POLITICIAN BARES WASTE IN VETS' BUREAU!

Police Seek Two Daring Robbers!

DRUG STORE LOOTED BY AMATEURS

Casa Verdugo Pharmacy Is Entered While Owner Sleeps Nearby

Thieves rifled the Casa Verdugo Drug store, 1155 North Central avenue, at an early hour this morning, departing with an indiscriminate assortment of loot totaling $150.

M. Becker, proprietor, discovered the robbery on opening his store at 7 o'clock this morning, and at once reported the matter to the sheriff's office and local police. Detectives are now working on the case, possessed with clews that include finger prints, footprints of the robbers, and other incriminating data. It is believed they were amateurs in burglary.

The store was entered by means of boxes piled in front of the window to the south entrance, giving access to a small screen near the top. Once inside the thieves removed the panel from the front door to facilitate their escape.

Fail to Find Till

They then proceeded to search the place for money. Failing to find the cash drawer, which Mr. Becker had hidden, they took the stamp money and grabbed handfuls of fountain pens and watches, departing in haste, with a mere fraction of the loot they could have taken, which makes it appear they were amateurs, perhaps boys.

At the time of the robbery Mr. and Mrs. Becker were sleeping in the rear of the store, and their daughter, Mrs. Amy G. Rilling, was sleeping there as well. None were awakened by the robbers. Mr. Becker had retired at 1:30 o'clock and states the robbery had occurred after that.

Hears Robbers Working

J. Koegel, proprietor of the Doughboy bakery, 1153 North Central avenue, directly adjoining, was mixing his dough for the morning bake when at 4:30 o'clock this morning he states he heard sounds next door, thus establishing the hour. Thinking it was Mr. Becker, however, he made no attempt to investigate the source of the footsteps,

WOMEN'S COUNCIL PLANS OUTLINED

President Recommends Five Projects for National Body to Work For

By SONIA LEE
For International News Service

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 30.—Five recommendations of the president, Mrs. Philip North Moore, of St. Louis, were received by the National Council of Women in the first session today. Mrs. Moore made five recommendations:

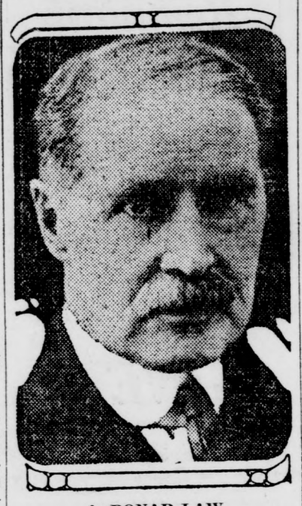
1. That each organization represented in the council make its work known through a printed publication.
2. That the finance committee be empowered to plan a campaign for raising $100,000 needed for the quinquennial convention of the international council in Washington, May, 1925.
3. That each organization arrange a session next year to advertise the international council.
4. A committee be appointed to attend the joint conference in London next May on "Prevention of the Causes of War."
5. That a committee be appointed to consider and send a plan for the Bok peace award.

Raps Federal Waste

Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman of Estes Park, Colo., slated for the presidency of the general federation of women's clubs, poked fun at what she termed governmental waste in overlapping of bureaus, in an address:

"The Alaskan bear is so well taken care of by Washington that three bureaus are solicitous for his welfare—one for the white bear, another for the black bear and a third for the brown bear."

Statesman Dies



A. BONAR LAW

Forced by ill health to resign the premiership, died in London today.

RALPH HUTCHINS DIES IN CRASH

Los Angeles Man Bleeds to Death After Collision With Doctor's Car

One man was killed and two were injured as the result of an auto smash Monday at 4:30 p. m. at the corner of Doran and Glendale avenue.

Ralph Hutchins, aged 35, of 2232 Childs avenue, Los Angeles, was thrown against the windshield of his car and suffered cuts from the broken glass which resulted in his death before medical aid could reach him.

Dr. Montague Cleeves, La Crescenta, who was driving the other car was thrown from his seat and suffered cuts and abrasions on the head. Walton Kittell, 1550 Elbato street, Los Angeles, riding with Hutchins received minor injuries.

Report On Crash

According to a report filed with the police, Dr. Cleeves was going east on Doran street and signaled for the turn into Glendale avenue. He slowed down to give a car going north on Glendale the right of way, and while crossing the intersection, Hutchins' car, going south on the avenue, struck his left rear wheel. Police were summoned, but when they arrived they found Hutchins had been removed from his machine and had bled to death from his injuries.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Kiefer & Eyerick for an inquest today and relatives notified. The injured man, Kittell, was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where it was stated his injuries were not of a serious nature. Both he and Dr. Cleeves were able to proceed to their homes later.

Donald Bestland, Age 11, Scoots Under Auto

Donald Bestland, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bestland of 376 West California avenue, was fortunate in not receiving fatal injuries yesterday afternoon, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. A. Kenyon of 1354 Glenwood road. In the accident he was painfully injured, his right leg being badly lacerated.

According to reports Donald was playing on a scooter and raced down the sidewalk and out into the street in front of the car driven by Mrs. Kenyon. Neither Mrs. Kenyon nor the child saw the other and the accident resulted.

Reports from the Bestland home state that Donald is resting comfortably after having his severe injuries dressed at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

L. A. SPEEDWAY AFIRE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Fire from burning weeds spread to the $1,000,000 Los Angeles Speedway, near Beverly Hills, this afternoon, according to brief reports received here, and destruction of the great automobile race course was threatened.

A. BONAR LAW NOTED TORY PASSES ON

London Newspapers Regret Death of Able English Leader This Morning

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Andrew Bonar Law, former premier of England and an outstanding figure in international politics, died early today after a long illness. He was 65 years old last month.

Mr. Law's end was peaceful. He died at 2:30 o'clock, maintaining consciousness to the end. His daughter, Lady Sikes, and his son-in-law, Sir Frederick Sikes, were at the bedside.

Pneumonia Victim

The statesman had been in failing health for several years, but his final attack of illness dates only back to last week when he was stricken with pneumonia. He suffered from throat trouble complicated with heart weakness.

Bonar Law was forced from the British premiership last May by illness, being succeeded on May 24 by Stanley Baldwin, the present premier.

The former premier's death comes as a severe blow to the Tory party and to large numbers of friends, although it was not entirely unexpected. Bonar Law succeeded David Lloyd George in office after the coalition cabinet was forced out last year by the Tories.

Evening newspapers of all shades of political opinion played up the death of the Tory leader

SEWER CONTRACT COMPROMISE FAILS

Council Once More Agrees to Have Survey Made by Burns & McDonnell

The City Council met this morning in special session at 11 o'clock and by unanimous vote adopted a resolution authorizing the mapor to sign the contract with Burns & McDonnell of Kansas City for the survey of Glendale's proposed new sewer system, under a bond issue yet to be called.

An amendment to the resolution, offered by Councilman Sam Davis and seconded by Countilman Kimlin, providing that the main out-fall sewer and the lateral system be made two separate contracts, in an effort to effect a compromise between the successful firm and Ed M. Lynch, local engineer, was lost. Councilmen Asa Hall and W. A. Horn and Mayor Robinson voted against it.

When all hope of reaching an agreement between the two firms as proposed at the meeting Monday night appeared lost, the vote was called for on the original resolution, which carried without a dissenting vote.

Representatives of Burns & McDonnell were present as well as Mr. Lynch. No arguments were made on either side, however, and the action was taken without discussion. The action today was the second time the council has authorized the signing of the contract with Burns & McDonnell, the first authorization being rescinded when the discussion with Mr. Lynch was opened, but all the time, the council explained ,it considered itself "morally bound" to carry out the contract with Burns & McDonnell.

Several citizens stated to the council last evening that it was their opinion that Mr. Lynch, who is known as one of the best engineers west of Chicago, and has a large and competent force here, should have received more consideration at their hands before this contract was awarded to an outside firm.

Alex Mitchell started the discussion by calling attention to a

Rotarians Plan Halloween Party on Friday Night

Rotarians will bring their Rotary Anns and Rotary Annettes to a family Halloween costume party Friday night, November 2, in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, 152 South Brand boulevard, when starting at 8 o'clock the most scrumptious time will be had.

The hall will be decorated with cornstalks and pumpkins, reports William Hunter, chairman of the committee in charge. All the old joysome doings will be redone—apple ducking, potato rolling, pumpkin pie eating, cider sipping—and numerous members are preparing scandalous stunts to spring on their unsuspecting fellow members.

Assisting William Hunter on the entertainment committee are Daniel Kely, Jr. and C. H. Kirkman.

LAUNCH COUNCIL OF GIRL SCOUTS

Troop Officials Chosen to Secure Cooperation of Glendale Women

A group of representative Glendale women, who are interested in the Girl Scout movement, met Monday night in the Palm Room of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for the purpose of organizing a Girl Scout Council to work in co-operation with Community Service.

Mrs. Mabel Horner, representing Troop 3, was elected chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, representing Troop 1, Mrs. W. R. Wichert, for Troop 2, and Mrs. F. H. Clark, for Troop 4, were selected to act with Mrs. Horner in gaining co-operation from the troop mothers. Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, spoke very enthusiastically in favor of the movement and offered the fullest co-operation of the Glendale city schools.

For the present the Scout Council headquarters will be Community Service, at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. R. E. Tucker, secretary of Community Service, is at present devoting much of his time toward organizing a strong Scout council for girls, in this district.

Meeting November 5

Monday night, November 5, a second meeting is called at the Tuesday Afernoon clubhouse, at which time the council will be formally organized. All Glendale women who are interested in the Girl Scout movement are urged to communicate with Community Service before that date.

Those present at the committee meeting included Mrs. W. O. Borthick, Mrs. N. H. Stanley, Mrs. M. J. Brennan, Mrs. F. H. Clark, Mrs. Mabel Horner, Mrs. F. A. Beach, Mrs. Charles A. Temple, Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, Mrs. W. E. Cleaveland, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Routt, Miss Gladys Sharpe, Miss Margaret Sharpe, R. E. Tucker and Richardson D. White. Mary Stanley and Lucille Beach from Troop 1 and Peggy Brennan and Peggy Clark from Troop 4 served tea to the committee at the close of the meeting.

Verdugo Chapter O. E. S. Meets Saturday Night

Definite preliminary steps leading up to the formation of Glendale's new Eastern Star chapter, Verdugo chapter, will be taken Saturday night at a meeting at 7:30 o'clock at the studio of Ralph Browne at 215 North Brand boulevard, to discuss further plans for the organization.

B. F. Bourne, who was appointed by the grand patron to begin plans for the new chapter, states that all those who have signed up and are interested are asked to meet Saturday night.

It is further announced that only Eastern Stars who are demits from other chapters will be eligible to sign the petition for the new chapter and become members. Then, after complete organization, application will be received for initiation of new members.

Hallowkiwanis Will See 1500 Children Parade for Prizes

Four Bands to Provide Music Tomorrow Night at Great Demonstration of Youthful Energy Directed by Club

Invitations have been tendered 5000 Glendale school children to participate in the big Hallowkiwanis parade tomorrow night, sponsored by the local Kiwanis club, and over 800 have already responded, reports A. L. Baird, chairman of the committee on arrangements, with the prospects good for a minimum of 1500 in line, all gaily costumed.

It will indeed be a brilliant event, with the seventy-nine Kiwanians, each acting as a marshal, stationed along the moving column with flaming torches of red fire, while crowds of spectators line Brand boulevard from Colorado street to Wilson avenue.

Music will be furnished by four bands—the Postoffice, Sciots, Elks and Community Service—such a blare of harmony as never before mobilized in this city.

And then, as the column passes the office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, 125 South Brand boulevard, the judges, from their stand atop a truck played upon by spotlights, will single out the most attractive costumes and dispatch after those individuals Boy Scouts who will stand by the truck in readiness.

The twenty-eight prize winners will later parade by themselves, for the benefit of the spectators.

Following the parade everyone will adjourn to the Glendale Union high school athletic field, where a huge bonfire will be lighted and two pushball contests run off, with twenty-five players on a side each game. The fifty winners of these contests will each receive a two-pound box of C. A. Kaighin's chocolates.

A display of fireworks will be the concluding event on the program. President A. L. Ferguson of the Kiwanians, vice principal of the Glendale Union high school, is extending invitations to all high school students to participate in the parade and Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, has distributed a pamphlet throughout the grammar grades, urging all pupils to participate.

The parade will form as follows, announces William Bode, general chairman in charge of the entertainment, who will be grand marshal:

Group 1.—Maryland and Har-

BENEFIT TICKETS SELLING BRISKLY

Entire Proceeds and Fund for Bereaved Families of Burned Men

Demand for tickets to the all-star professional entertainment to be held on the night of November 6 in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the benefit of the families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan, who lost their lives fighting fire, continues brisk, it was announced today.

As the seating capacity is limited and as the committee will not sell any more tickets than there are seats, those who have not purchased pasteboards are urged to act immediately.

Tickets are on sale at the office of The Glendale Evening News, as well as elsewhere, and purchases may be made here between the hours of 7:30 a. m. and 9:30 p. m. The price is $5 a ticket and the entire proceeds will go to the bereaved families. Positively no one is paid for services.

Subscriptions are still being received to the relief fund being raised through The Glendale Evening News. Those who do not wish to buy tickets to the benefit entertainment may subscribe to the fund.

Some of the most prominent motion picture and stage stars in Southern California will donate their services to the entertainment and, it is predicted, the show

MID-WEST UNDER BLANKET OF SNOW

Chicago and Surrounding Country Shivers While Storm Blows Over

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Winter slipped in for an early call on the mid-west sometime before dawn today. Chicago awakened to see snow-clad trees and temperature not far above freezing.

Waterloo, Iowa, shivered to gusts of 14 degrees accompanied by an inch of snow. Most of Iowa and Nebraska was under the snow blanket,. Minneapolis had a temperature of 20 degrees, but no snow.

The storm in the lower lake region will move rapidly northeastward, with increasing intensity, attended by a strong south and southwest, shifting to northwest winds, said a warning issued by the weather bureau this morning.

Storm warnings have been displayed from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Maine.

Gov. Walton Bows to Oklahoma's Verdict

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 30.—Governor J. C. Walton, once "iron man" of Oklahoma, whose administration came tumbling down to crush him in a chaos of corruption and graft charges, has "resigned himself to his fate," believing his removal from office is inevitable.

This was learned today from a source close to the governor. Walton's attorneys are of the same opinion.

Only a miracle can prevent the elimination from Oklahoma's queer politics of the man whose inauguration was celebrated ten months ago by the "world's greatest barbecue."

Walton is known to feel that with his demise as governor of Oklahoma, his arch enemy—the "invisible empire," the Ku Klux Klan, also will be dealt a crushing blow.

MISSOURIAN TELLS OF $81,000 PROFIT

E. L. Morse Admits Bringing Pressure to Bear on White House

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Senatorial investigators of the United States veterans' bureau delved into history today in their quest for further evidence of waste, mismanagement and corruption in the bureau.

Turning away temporarily from investigation of the acts of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, they turned the spotlight today on some of the closing days of the Wilson administration.

E. L. Morse, prominent Missouri political leader, testified he had received a contract during the Wilson administration for the purchase of his home at Excelsior Springs, Mo., as a hospital at a price which government records show netted him a profit of $81,000. Morse said the final price paid him was $116,000 for his house and the surrounding land. A report of a government commission fixed its value at $35,000.

How He Worked It

Major General John F. O'Ryan, government prosecutor, introduced a report from a committee of government experts, who appraised the Morse property which fixed its value at $35,000. Morse himself testified that while receiving $173,000 for the whole property, $116,100 was paid for the house and adjoining land.

Morse told of coming to Washington in October, 1922, and "lobbying" to get the veterans' bureau to revoke an earlier decision to abandon his project. After he got fifteen to twenty senators to support him, the veterans' bureau finally decided to continue work on the Morse hospital.

"As a politician, it would have ruined me to have taken back this property and abandoned the hospital," Morse testified. "They would have said I was a crook. I could have made $200,000 if they did abandon it. I think the influence I brought to bear on the veterans' bureau changed the course of the federal commission on hospitalization."

Morse told frankly of wielding political influence in forcing the government to finally accept his site, even though all government agencies condemned its purchase. He even told of "sending" Senator Bursum, Republican, of New York," "to the White House" before the veterans' bureau finally carried out the contract.

MOTHER WITNESS FOR MRS. STOKES

Gray-Haired Woman Testifies to Assist Daughter in Divorce Action

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Arthur Scott Miller of Denver, gray-haired mother of pretty Helen Elwood Stokes, today took the witness stand in the divorce action brought by William Earl Dodge Stokes, millionaire turfman, in her daughter's behalf.

Mrs. Miller was called to clear up a contradiction in the testimony of her daughter and Edgar T. Wallace, "the man in the case."

At the previous trial Mrs. Stokes testified Wallace had proposed to her. Testifying yesterday, Wallace denied that he had ever suggested marriage.

Mrs. Milier denied that Mrs. Stokes had ever been in Bunceton, Mo., Stokes' attorneys having charged she went there with Edgar T. Wallace, co-respondent, in 1904.

From 1900 to 1905, her daughter attended the National Park seminary at Washington, D. C., Mrs. Miller testified. She told of the long trip to San Francisco in 1906 when she and Mrs. Stokes met Wallace.

Flood Danger Causes Fear on Louise Street

Representatives of residents of North Louise street between Cameron place and Fairview avenue appeared before the City Council last evening and requested that immediate steps be taken to give them relief from the danger of losing their homes from flood water from the two subdivisions above. They stated instant action was imperative and asked the council not to wait until the arrival of the thirty-inch pipe before starting this work. It was reported that the old waterway was completely filled with sand, and, should an extraordinary rain come, great loss would be inevitable.

As a result of the request, and upon the recommendation of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, who stated that conditions were as they had been described, the city engineer was instructed to investigate what steps could be taken immediately, and report back to the City Council at their special meeting this morning.

Social Events

Share in Honors

In keeping with a delightful custom of several years' standing Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston, of 330 North Jackson street, entertained with a dinner party last night in the celebration of M. P. Harrison's and T. W. Preston's birthday anniversaries and the twenty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Preston. These anniversaries are jointly celebrated each year and have proven to be most enjoyable.

Special symbolic favors and table decorations suggestive to Hallowe'en were used.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lennox, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison and daughter, Inez, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston and son, Shirley.

Birthday Party

Inspiration for an enjoyable affair was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Edward Weston, of Perlita avenue, when a number of relatives and friends entertained Sunday night with a radio surprise party in her honor.

The evening was devoted to "listening in" on the radio and an informal social time.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Chandler and daughter, Bessie, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peckham and son, Vassar Chandler Peckham, Mr. and Mrs. Ennis, Mrs. E. B. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton Barnes and sons Pliny Barnes and Lewis C. Barnes, and the honoree, Mrs. Edward Weston.

Biblical Lecture

An unusually interesting and instructive program has been arranged for the next meeting of the Bible Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Charles H. Temple is curator, for Tuesday, November 6, at 10:30 o'clock.

Rev. Thomas Lutman, chautauqua lecturer, will deliver one of his inspiring and educational lectures illustrated with motion pictures of "When the Mountains Meet the Sea." Rev. Lutman is widely known as a lecturer of considerable repute and delivers lectures over the radio which are said to be extremely interesting and instructive.

With Mrs. Reese

Mrs. Mary Reese of 1138 East Elk street, president of the Parent-Teacher association of the Broadway school, was hostess yesterday afternoon at an informal gathering of the members of the executive board and the room mothers.

During the afternoon it was decided that the regular meeting of the board and room mothers on the third Thursday of each month, should be held from 11 o'clock until the hour for the association meeting in the afternoon. This will afford the officers an opportunity to consider business matters, lunch together and visit the various rooms.

Epworth Leaguers

Members of the Epworth League of the Central avenue Methodist church, are entertaining tonight with a Halloween social at the church. Special Halloween games and stunts have been arranged by the social committee in charge.

Halloween Party

Initiation into the "High Order of Goblins and Witches" was one of the entertainment features of the Halloween party given yesterday afternoon by the faculty of the Emerson School of Self-Expression for the students of the junior departments. This solemn rite was conducted by Misses Marie Walsh, Helen Page and Besse Long.

There were other interesting games and stunts and later refreshments were served by the faculty members and the assisting hostesses, Mesdames Max Bayha, R. W. Cleghorn and Miss Marie Walsh.

An artistic dance given by Charlotte Sturgess and Helen Page was the "Dance of the Villagers."

Upon departing each guest was presented with a souvenir of the occasion.

Nurns Are Hosts

One of the interesting social events of the week was the Halloween party given Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Nurn at their home, 611 East Chestnut street.

Branches of autumn foliage, pumpkins and corn were effectively used in decorating the rooms of the Nurn home. An orange and black color scheme was artistically carried out in the favors and other decorations of the refreshment table.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clauson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alexander of Pasadent, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Hall of Eagle Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Baker and Eugene Conner of Glendale and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Nurn.

Weekly Rehearsal

The regular weekly rehearsal of the Madrigal club of which Mrs. Charles A. Parker is director was held at the Congregational church Monday afternoon. At this time voices were tried and two applicants will be admitted to the club next week. The next rehearsal will be the last that prospective active members may join until after the January concert.

Announcement is made that Mrs. Chappell's team, No. 1, is still in the lead in the membership drive.

A meeting of the board of directors will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, 327 North Maryland avenue, Wednesday afternoon, October 31, at 2 o'clock.

All members are urged to bring donations for charity.

Postoffice to Receive Two More Mail Trucks

Two government trucks are to be placed at the disposal of the Glendale postoffice early in December, according to advices received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. In the meantime he has zeen authorized to hire an extra truck to handle the rush of parcel post business, pending the arrival of the government trucks.

The postoffice has one truck in use now, working on an eight-hour day, but with the government trucks it will be possible, Postmaster Jackson says, to put extra drivers on and initiate night collection of mail to expedite the business of the local office.

Another driver for the new trucks will be selected from among the members of the present staff of carriers.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Strangers of the Night," a Fred Niblo production, offered by Louis B. Meyer through Metro, shows at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today. Enid Bennett, Matt Moore and Barbara La Marr are in the cast.

This picture is adapted to the screen from the famous stage play "Captain Applejack," which recounts the piratical adventures of a timid Englishman, with swashbuckling affrays on the Spanish Main and discovery of a pirate's hoard in the ancestral halls of a British castle.

"Strangers of the Night," in addition to being a broad melodrama, is an uproarious comedy, and has a dainty love strain running through it. Enid Bennett, Fred Niblo's wife, gives a performance equally as distinguished as her maid Marian in "Robin Hood," while Barbara La Marr, the Milady of "The Three Musketeers," adds to her laurels.

THE GATEWAY

Gloria Swanson appears today at the Gateway Theatre for the last times in "Zaza," her newest Paramount starring vehicle, supported by H. B. Warner, in the role of Bernard Dufresne, with whom Zaza, the little star of the "Odeon," a cafe chantant at St. Etienne, has her idyllic romance.

Talented, beautiful, charming and admittedly the best gowned star in American films, Glorna Swanson has a following that tests the capacity of every theatre where her pictures are shown with the Gateway Theatre no exception to the rule.

"Zaza" was directed by Allan Dwan, who made "Robin Hood." It tells the story of the love of a French actress for a diplomat, and of their many trials and ultimate happiness. It was produced in New York in 1900 with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the stellar role and created a sensation.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Receipt of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

REVELATIONS IN JAPANESE QUAKE

Elder P. A. Webber Tells of Attempt to Minimize Huge Death List

Elder P. A. Webber, of the Adventist church, who arrived in Glendale Saturday, October 27, from Yokohama, with Mrs. Webber, who is now a patient at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, describes vividly the terrible days in Japan following the quake of Saturday, September 1.

"At exactly two minutes before noon," he says, "Yokohama got the first vertical shock, which was felt in Tokyo 44 seconds later. At once the city sank from one to four feet, the catastrophe being instantaneous.

"Then, in just 10 seconds, the space of a breath, came a series of the most violent horizontal shocks, gripping the doomed cities and shaking them until in a matter of minutes every structure of brick had come to the ground.

Thousand Separate Infernos

"Gas mains and oil pipes burst and in the twinkling of an eye a thousand separate infernos sprang up. We were standing in a wooden church in the Adventist compound at Tokyo and so escaped with our lives. Our publishing house in the same compound, a $75,000 brick building, went down, a total wreck.

"From noon until midnight the violent shocks continued, 222 distinct temblors being recorded in that time. Confusion was beyond all belief. Loss of life was fairly appalling. Colonel Langhorae, U. S. A., of the American Relief commission, made a careful survey and puts the dead conservatively at 300,000.

First Reports Accurate

"Naturally the Japanese try to minimize this. You can believe the first reports in your American papers. They were accurate. Later reports, scaling down the number of dead, do not tally with the facts.

"Japan's property loss in the disaster, moreover, is in excess of 15,000,000,000 yen, or $7,500,000,000. Yokahoma and Tokyo are total ruins. Practically every structure not thrown down by the quakes and consumed in flames will have to be razed. The cities must be re-built from the ground up.

Naval Strength Crippled

"When it is considered that Japan lost only 148,000 in the Russo-Japanese war, her losses of from 300,000 to a half million in this greatest of all disasters can be appreciated. Her naval strength, furthermore, has been crippled and she is reduced to an inferior power on the seas.

"Not alone was the damage confined to her men of war. Her principal naval bases were obliterated and stores of oil and other materials that had taken her years to accumulate were destroyed. The oil that covered her coastline like a blanket, following the disaster, was not from wrecked ships but from underground oil reservoirs of which the outside world had known nothing.

"During two weeks that I remained in the stricken area following the terrible day of September 1, there were registered a total of 1317 distinct shocks, and on October 13, when I set sail for the western world, this total had risen to 3000. It was not one shock that leveled these proud capitals of the Orient, but innumerable shocks, each with its battering-ram effect."

Elder and Mrs. Webber arrived at Victoria, B. C., October 22, on the Empress of Russia, and came on down the coast, stopping en route at Seattle and Portland. They had been in the Far East for ten years, as Adventist missionaries, returning because of Mrs. Webber's health.

She is under the care of Dr. Riley R. Russell, who pronounces her disorder as sprue, a rare Oriental disease. Fortunately, Dr. Russell, who spent fifteen years as a missionary in Korea, is familiar with this disease and its treatment and promises a ready recovery, after which Elder and Mrs. Webber plan a return to the orient to resume their work.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

New York Film Control
Time for Awakening
Critics of Southland
They Know Only Half

By Gil A. Cowan

Happily the motion picture producers take it upon themselves to close their studios—or at least those which are controlled by New York interests—at the most opportune season.

It is estimated already that about 10,000 people will be enjoying a "thankless" Thanksgiving unless Southern California takes up the slack. And it will. Building and real estate and tourists and oranges and oil and the rest will provide entertainment for our film folks.

At the same time we have about reached the conclusion that the sinister money interests of New York which have monopolized motion picture manufacture should be succeeded by our own western capital. It is time that Los Angeles, and not New York, directed the film factories.

We ask to know what a former glove salesman, or hat maker, or what not, from "Thoity-thoid" street, or thereabouts, is doing making pictures for the great American public?

The most recent series of stories in The Saturday Evening Post by George Randolph Chester will go down in history as the greatest satire on the greatest industry in the world today.

It is time for an awakening—the film business must not be dependent on orders from New York. It must not bow down to the standards set by the illiterate aliens of the great East Side.

And we must speak words of commendation for Chaplin, Fairbanks, Pickford, et al, for getting from under the yoke of the money lenders' paternalism.

Speaking of The Saturday Evening Post reminds us that Albert Atwood takes a few polite slaps at Los Angeles. Mr. Atwood's attitude is both right and wrong. He is right in telling us our faults here in southern California, but he is wrong in thinking that Los Angeles is any more or less than what it really is.

Read not into my words, said a sage. The same may be said of Chamber of Commerce publicity. When any southern California community points with pride to the acquisition of a new industry, no matter how small, it does so because of the fact that the whole world has said it shall not be.

When a Chicago man makes a hundred grand, if you will pardon our slang term for thousand dollars, it is worthy of comment here. But when a California man makes a similar amount in Chicago it is only a riffle in the tide of wealth passing through their banking establishments, which do not represent Chicago or New York by a large part of the nation.

Southern Californians are supposed to spend money—not make it. Southern Californians are supposed to be idle—not industrious. And when they upset these rules it is a matter of news. As one editor explained the situation, "When a dog bites a man, that is to be expected; but when a man bites a dog, that's news."

So we have the reverse ratio. We have more rich people who spend less than newspaper writers; we have more capital and less actively invested; we have more people and less working than any other section of the country, we believe.

And we do like to incite them to action by telling what others have done and are doing in full page advertisements, large development sections, well worded articles, etc.

But Mr. Atwood and his ilk do not understand our motives. They refer to our "spirit" as something more or less sublime. If Chicago or New York had as many clams to pry open for the few dollars we get into active service out here on the coast, they would present a spectacle much more ridiculous than that of the southern California booster with his bag of tricks.

We could write columns in answer to southern California critics. We could write better criticism than the critics themselves. We have traveled and seen and heard and argued the case for more than ten years, in east, west, north and south. Instead, we are going to rest on the evidence.

Now for a few lines of cheer from our state contemporaries:

At that, everything lately has not been for the worst. Most of the efficiency experts are back to work—Marysville Democrat.

Forensics Give Girls Opportunity to Develop

The Occidental college women's forensic activities have begun, Miss Mildred Zellhoefer, prominent woman debater of Oxy believes that the promise of success is remarkable and that with the willingness of the girls to cooperate, she says, that the Women's forensics are sure to bring more honors to the Tiger institution.

The aim of the girls is "to improve the quality of forensic work and to carry the fame of Occidental farther than before."

Preliminary work has begun and tryouts for the debating squad will be held November 13. The tryouts will give every girl a chance to discover her argumentative abilities even though they may not have been known before. The subject for all the forthcoming intercollegiate women's debates is, "Resolved, that the United States should grant complete independence to the Philippines."

All the debates will be triangular and there will be three contests during the season. Nine women will compose the team.

as a blow to English statesmanship. The papers paid tribute to the ex-premier's fearlessness and honesty.

Premier Baldwin, in paying tribute to Bonar Law, said:

"For his own sake I am thankful he has been spared further suffering. For his friends, his loss is irreparable. The country will never forget that he sacrificed his life for the country's service."

Premier Baldwin will make a speech at Swansea, Wales, tonight, when he is expected to pay further tribute to the Tory leader.

Bonar Law was born in New Brunswick, September 16, 1858, the son of Rev. James Law. His mother was a native of Glasgow. He was married in 1891 to Miss Annie Pitcairn, of Glasgow, who died in 1909. Two sons and two daughters were born to them.

Glendale Advertised by Cabbage Patch!

Representatives of The Chicago Tribnue and The New York Daily News have arranged with the Glendale Community Players, through the director, Mrs. Nanno Woods, to take photographs of the wonderful exterior sets to be used in the production of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." The sets to be photographed represent the homes of Mrs. Wiggs and Miss Hazy, which were designed by Robert Stevenson, art director of the Players. All the work on them has been done by volunteer workers, under the direct supervision of Mr. Stevenson. Through this medium Glendale and the Community Players will be advertised in eastern cities.

The photographs of the sets and principals in the cast will be taken Thursday afternoon, November 1, at 2 o'clock at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Chicken Dinner on Commandery Program

Dr. Roy V. Hogue, commander, and other officers of the Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, conferred the order of the temple last night for the annual inspection of grand officers at the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard.

Charles L. Malcolm of Long Beach, deputy grand commander of the state of California, headed the staff of visiting officers. Others in the party were James Copp, Jr., deputy commander; Audrey Parks, inspector of Department No. 8; Henry Krohn of Los Angeles; Bert Williams of Long Beach.

The Glendale Commandery is anticipating an interesting meeting Monday night, November 12, when Golden West Commandery, No. 43, of Los Angeles, will come to Glendale in a body for a big chicken dinner. They will bring their band with them. After the dinner degrees will be conferred.

Students Attend From All Parts of World

The various high schools in California are well represented at Occidental this year. There are 406 students attending the Eagle Rock institution who come from ninety different prep schools in this state. Twenty-six states in addition to California are recorded with 89 students registered. Four foreign countries with nine students attending Oxy make up the foreign element. China has four students, Czecho-Slovakia 1, Russia 1 and Philippine Islands 3.

"COMALT"

"A Prophet Hath No Honor in His Own Country"

To the Citizens of Glendale:

The wise old sage that said the above did not foresee "COMALT" and "GREEN HILL" otherwise he would have modified his statement.

My comparatively short residence in Glendale has shown me that there is truly a wonderful community spirit here, and I am sure that when you realize the wonderful success that "COMALT" has had elsewhere you will recognize that in order to back the boosting of this great local product that each and every one of you must get the "COMALT" habit here.

Now, I am going to tell you why: I had the SMITH-EMERY CO., the foremost Chemists and CHEMICAL ENGINEERS make an analysis of "COMALT" and they report in part as follows:

Fat	0.12 per cent
Calories	17.25 per oz.

This means that there is being made in this city of Glendale a food-drink that is both satisfying and nourishing, whether served hot or cold—GLENDALE MADE, NOT IMPORTED. A perfect CHOCOLATE MALTED MILK, invented by us and controlled by us.

During the past sixty days "COMALT" has given Glendale publicity and fame all over the UNITED STATES, so you will recognize that YOUR increased consumption on "COMALT" is not only a healthful thing for your family, but a help in increasing one of the foremost home industries here.

If Your Druggist or Soda Fountain Is Not Serving "Comalt," Find Out Why

IT IS THE SAME WITH THE REST OF OUR PRODUCTS—Ginger Ale or whatever it may be. Glendale is making you just as good an article as any place in the world, and you good people hereafter can feel that anything bearing our label is just what it purports to be and is as good as is made anywhere and furthermore, every time you buy and consume GREEN HILL products you are adding to the prosperity of your own city, and getting the best there is.

WE want your business in our line, and we want you to boost Glendale products—NOT ONLY OUR GOODS, BUT EVERYTHING MADE AND SOLD HERE. I personally guarantee my best efforts in helping.

U. S. C. WON GAME ON GOOD BREAKS

House of Cards Tumbles as Sore Southerners Fight Way to Victory

By J. EVERT SMITS
Written for The Evening News

PALO ALTO, Oct. 30.—The 14 to 7 victory of University Southern California over Stanford last Saturday was due to one thing, and that thing was Stanford itself. It was a plain case of the better team losing on account of lack of punch in the crucial moments. The Trojans took the field determined to win and followed the ball like a pack of thirsty bloodhounds from the first minute of play until the final whistle. Four of Ernie Nevers' punts were blocked during the game and U. S. C. took advantage of two of these breaks for her two touchdowns.

It was the inability of the Stanford backs to guard their kicker that lost the game for them. The first break came near the close of the second quarter when Nevers was called on to kick after a fifteen yard penalty had placed the Cards in the shadow of their own goalposts. The U. S. C. forwards crashed through the Stanford line and as the ball popped into the air off of the chest of a Trojan lineman, Holly Adams grabbed it but could not get away.

Block More Boots

This narrow escape should have been a warning to the Cards but after U. S. C. failed to make yards with forward passes Nevers was again called on to kick out of danger and the kick was blocked a second time. This time Holly Adams grabbed the ball and raced twenty yards for a touchdown. Hawkins kicked the goal and the little bunch of U. S. C. rooters went wild at this unexpected break that enabled U. S. C. to tie the score. Stanford had previously scored in the second quarter when Murray dived over the line for her only score after the ball had been placed within scoring distance by Cleveland.

In the third quarter Nevers had another of his punts blocked but U. S. C. could not gain and Hawkins tried his second place kick of the day and missed a second time. Stanford had been lucky so far, that only one of the blocked punts had been costly, but that luck was too good to last and in the final quarter Norman Anderson crashed through and blocked a fourth kick. Holly Adams again scooped up the pigskin and crossed the Stanford line.

Praise For U. S. C.

The Trojans went into the game Saturday sore in mind and body from the fearful hammering they received at Seattle a week ago with nearly every person in the Stadium a Cardinal rooter. In spite of this handicap they whipped a team that was their superior and that should have been at the top of its form. The U. S. C. eleven put up an exhibition of pure gameness and fight that commanded respect.

The U. S. C. band looked nifty in white unifroms and led the rooters in a serpentine after the game, which ended in front of the Stanford section where the U. S. C. boys yelled themselves hoarse and the Stanford rooters had to sit and take it!

ORNAMENTAL BRACKET

An ornamental metal bracket has been invented to hold flower pots of any size on narrow window sills.

One worthy of consideration is worthy of assistance.

ATHLETIC CLUB'S BIG BILL READY

Dempsey May Accompany His Friend 'Bool' Montana Here Tonight

Word was received from "Bull" Montana, noted wrestler and erstwhile movie star, that he would positively be on hand for tonight's card staged by Les Marston for the Glendale Athletic club at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard. As the grappler is a bosom friend of Jack Dempsey, local enthusiasts hope that he will prevail upon the mitt wielder to come with him, although Jack has not signified his intention of doing this.

Joe Polk, A. E. F. champion, who will meet John Hackenschmidt, local mat artist, in the main event of the evening, is in good shape. The Glendale man has been training hard for this bout and a good match should result. There is no time limit to the affair, and fans expect to receive their money's worth.

In addition to the main bout, other events on the program are: Jimmy Racer vs. Ted Rose of the local club; Jack Carr of Glendale vs. Battling Chico of Lankershim; Cecil Taylor of Burbank vs. Freddie Klagge of Pasadena. The gong for the first event rings at 8:30 sharp.

Bill Nesbit, Track Star, Will Come to Occidental

Occidental's track hopes loom brighter still as news circulates around the campus that Bill Nesbit, star prep sprinter from Harvard Military academy, has intentions of transferring from the University of Nevada in February and will be eligible for varsity competition the following year. The reason Nesbit entered Nevada was due to the fact that he lived near the college, but he has decided to come south to Oxy.

Nesbit can do the hundred yard dash in 9 4-5th consistently and has many first place medals tucked away. He was Harvard's outstanding track man last season.

NISLE TEAM IS PUT IN STORAGE

Clothiers and Hollywood Squad Clash; Visitors Take Long End

The Nisle Clothes went to the Hollywood Storage last night, the locals dropping the odd game of the night's match in the Foothill Bowling league, at the Jensen alleys. Roder of the Nnsle ballrollers was high shooter, tallying up 616.

Box score:

Thursday night, November 1, the Fraternal league opens at the Jensen alleys, with eight teams signed up. On that night the K. of C.'s will meet the Sciots and the Masons the Modern Woodmen.

Friday night it will be K. of C. No. 1 vs. the American Legion and K. of C. No. 2 vs. the Odd Fellows, announces Peter Neise, manager of the alleys.

Notre Dame Can Play at Pasadena Only

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 30.—Knute Rockne's fighting Irish of Notre Dame, victors in the game with Princeton and undefeated this season, will accept none of the various invitations that have been received for post season games on the Pacific coast, the faculty board of athletic control decided today. By its ruling two years ago, the board limited Notre Dame's western engagements to the Tournament of Roses game, and it was decided not to depart from this ruling. It was hinted that if the Irish were asked to play in that game they would accept.

We grant ourselves immunity from our vices, only to resent the punishment vice inflicts.

BIG LEAGUERS BOOST GLENDALE

Two Games This Week-End for Stars Team, Says Frank Kerwin

Local fans will have two more opportunities to see major league stars wearing Glendale uniforms, according to an announcement made by Manager Frank A. Kerwin of the Glendale club, Triple A league, this morning.

"Although the schedule of the Triple A league calls for our opening game next Sunday," said Manager Kerwin, "I have arranged for a postponement of this, and Glendale's regular Triple A season will not start until the following Sunday, November 11."

Glendale has received much favorable publicity throughout the sporting world owing to the appearance of major league stars, notably "Bob" and "Irish" Meusel, in local uniforms. Under a recent ruling of Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, major leaguers are not allowed to go on barnstorming tours after November 10. This fact led Manager Kerwin to schedule two games for this week.

On Saturday Glendale will meet a fast colored team from Los Angeles and on Sunday the Shell Oil team. The place for these events has not been definitely decided as yet, but announcement will be made as soon as possible. This will be the last time that Glendale will be allowed to use the big leaguers, and every fan should avail himself of this opportunity. Manager Kerwin will use practically the same line-up that played the Pasadena Merchants at Tournament park on Sunday.

Work on the new ball park at the corner of San Fernando road and Park avenue is progressing very satisfactorily, said Manager Kerwin. The fencing will all be in place today, and the diamond will be in first-class shape for the opening league game at home. Arrangements are under way to make this opening day a gala event.

Moosehead Lake, the largest in Maine, is about thirty-five miles in length and from one to fifteen miles in width.

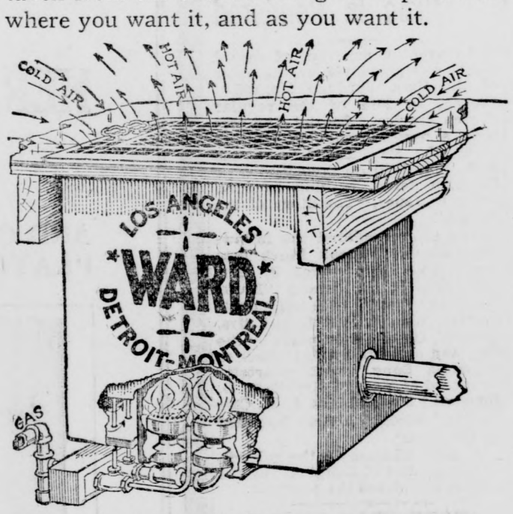
Pure Heat When You Want It

Ward 2 Burner Sealed Gas Floor Furnace does not take out of the rooms the oxygen which you breathe, to mix with the gas, it is taken from the outside and gives a pure heat when you want it, where you want it, and as you want it.



—Adapted to either new or old homes, offices, stores, churches, schools, cafes, florists, etc.

Why have 3 to 5 unsightly, distasteful, smelly, dangerous, poisonous heating appliances in your home when a Ward will do the work?

LA CRESCENTA

GIRL SCOUTS IN HALLOWEEN PARTY

Masquerade Furnishes Lots of Fun as Witches and Black Cats Reign

The Girl Scouts' masquerade party was a howling success from beginning to end. Those who arrived early got somewhat more for their money than the late comers, as they were on hand to greet with shrieks of laughter each new costume as it entered the hall. Everybody, his wife, child and neighbor, was there—in fact, everybody attended to the number of 280.

There were girls dressed as boys and vice versa, grandmas as coy little school maidens, staid business men frolicked around attired as gay Spanish cavaliers, foxy grandpas, tramps, clowns and darkies, while mother shook off her role of family despot and had a jolly good time.

Surprising, isn't it, what a change of costume does for one? Gives one a different outlook on life, if you know what I mean.

Jazzy Syncopations

Gay gypsy queens sauntered in and about the crowd, weighted down by their gorgeous strings of brilliantly colored beads. A sleek black pussy cat with wicked looking whiskers added a Hallowe'en touch to the ensemble; even John Chinaman didn't stay home, but came to "takee chargee allee monies," while Sambo, from the Mississippi levee, furnished the jazzy syncopations which caused 280 pairs of feet to hop around in lively fashion.

The candy tables were well taken care of by charming maidens attired in antebellum costumes. The doughnuts, apples and punch were dispensed by black and orange attired Yama Yamas, while the seven beautiful but ill-fated wives of the notorious Bluebeard were shown to an amdiring public by Mrs. Hansen, who is the Scout leader.

Mrs. Hansen also ballyhoo'd, in a most professional manner, for the wild animal menagerie, where marvelous creatures, such as teddy bears, fuzzy dogs, wooden snakes, a three-piece daschhund, a knobby looking wooden cow, a docile looking felt-covered donkey, a wild coyote, and others too numerous to mention awed the most hilarious into silence. Even Bozo, the wild man, who had springs for arms and legs and wore fur around his face, was there. Did the crowd step up and view them? We'll say they did!

Witch Was There

A most ferocious looking old witch with no teeth and a realistic hump on her back read the fortunes for the curious, with the cards, adding to the funds thereby.

A younger and more respectable little witch sold ready-made fortunes from her cauldron, and these, when read, added much to the fun.

To Mrs. Gavin Telfer went the first prize for the most fun-provoking costume, Sis Hopkins. This prize, a large three-pound box of delicious candies, was donated by Thomas Brown of West Montrose avenue. Stuart Collins, who was such a realistic looking girl that very few recognized him, won the boys' first prize, a pasteboard jointed skeleton. To Mrs. Arthur Swain of Sparr Heights went a little black kitty whose tummy was full of small candies, and many other prizes were given.

The musicians, who donated their services, should be given special thanks, as this item meant many dollars toward the Girl Scouts' Christmas fund. Miss Effie Brinker of Seattle was at the piano, with Herbert Hodgkins in charge of the traps and drums. Herbert is a loyal Boy Scout of the local troop.

To Mrs. Jessie Hansen goes the credit for the success of the whole evening, for it was by her untiring efforts the Scouts were encouraged to go ahead, advertise their party and do the hundred and one things to be done in connection with such an affair.

Proud of Captain

The Girl Scouts feel they are exceptionally fortunate in having such a Scout captain. The parents, too, are a hundred per cent behind Mrs. Hansen and will give her their full co-operation in the work from now on.

The gate receipts were $80, and when all expenses have been paid the Girl Scout troop of La Crescenta, will no doubt, have about $85 in their treasury, as the candy was donated and brought in quite a sum.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cox have been entertaining as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Yelton of Chicago.

The program given last weekend at the school assembly was as follows:

Tarantella ——.....Carlotta Hunt
Prelude (Chopin)....Carlotta Hunt
To a Wild Rose.....Carl Hunt
Prelude, Opus 28 (Chopin).....
..... Carlotta Hunt
The Curious Story.....Carl Hunt
L'Avalanche..... Carlotta Hunt

This brother and sister are newcomers in the valley and, being youngsters of 9 and 11, are considered particularly gifted to be able to present such a program.

The Woman's Service League sent flowers for the private funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stine. The little one was buried in Grand View Memorial Park by the side of another little daughter. Mrs. Stine, who is president of the Service League, is at present in the Burbank hospital, and the members of the league are sending her postal card showers to show their sympathy.

Compromise on Sewer Contract Proves Failure

published notice to the effect that the city had signed the contract. Mr. Mitchell also made a plea, 'in the interests of harmony," that Mr. Lynch receive consideration in the work. Several times during the long discussion Mr. Mitchell declared that "the bonds will have a better chance of carrying if a Glendale man is identified with the work."

Council's Attitude

In defending the action of the council, Mayor Spencer Robinson stated that the matter had been given a great deal of conscientious thought, and the council had come to the unanimous conclusion that the Kansas City firm was the best qualified to carry out this work.

Without an exception the members of the council would have desired that the local engineer should be placed in charge, but in the interest of Glendale they did not think this wise, he said.

In addressing the council, W. E. Evans, former city attorney, stated that without a doubt everyone in Glendale wanted the sewer at the earliest possible moment. He thought that inasmuch as Mr. Lynch had an average payroll in Glendale of $11,000 per month that some consideration should be given this fact, and that the employing of the local man would go a great way in helping the bond issue to carry. It was his opinion that during his long residence here Mr. Lunch has acquired information relative to this city which it would be practically impossible for any outside firm to obtain in the time allowed.

Mayor Robinson replied that Burns & McDonald were the biggest sewer engineers west of Chicago, and possibly in the United States. They had been awarded contracts for over three hundred sewers in this country, and as far as he knew their work had been satisfactory.

Others Speak on Issue

In response to John R. Grey, who also spoke advocating the employment of the local man, the mayor informed him that in case the bond issue did not carry, the city of Glendale was liable to an indemnity of $1500, which, however, would not reimburse the Kansas City engineers for their work.

Dr. William C. Mabry also spoke at some length on the question. He stated that Mr. Lynch had in his employ engineers who were probably as capable of this work as any with Burns & McDonnell.

At this time Councilman Sam Davis said that he felt the city of Glendale, through the action of its council, was morally, if not legally, bound to Burns & McDonnell. However, in the light of all this opposition, he was willing to do what he could to effect a compromise with the two engineering firms, but he stated he would not alter his vote on the original motion to award the contract, but in the interests of harmony was willing to do all that he could to bring the two firms together in the matter of the contract.

Attempt Compromise

It was then proposed to split the contract, giving Burns & McDonnell the main 12-foot system, and Mr. Lynch the laterals, etc., in the city. This suggestion, made as a compromise measure, was discarded due to the fact that Burns & McDonnell had already been awarded the entire project to survey.

After several hours' discussion on the subject, on motion of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Sam Davis, it was decided to thresh the matter out at a special meeting on Tuesday morning, at 11 o'clock. On the roll call Councilmen Hall and Horn voted in the negative.

All persons, especially the representatives of Burns & McDonnell and Mr. Lynch, were requested to be present.

Special Program of Music Is Rendered

An evening program of sacred music was presented by the choir of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, in lieu of the regular church service. Special numbers were a baritone solo, "I Made a mple of My Heart," soprana solo, "Thy Will Be Done," by Miss Beatrice Sasse, reading by Mrs. Robt. D. Jones, "The Story of the Chime."

The choir rendered the following anthems: "Break Forth Into Joy," with solo parts by Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones; "Hark, Hark, my Soul," with solo parts by Mrs. Wm. F. Blaikie and Mrs. John W. Cotton, duet parts by the two, and obligato by Mrs. Blaikie; "Evening Song," with quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. D. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cotton, and accompaniment hummed by the choir.

A short address on the subject, "The Melodies of Religion," by the pastor, completed the program.

STORE NEAR SCHOOL

By passing a resolution setting aside the first lot south of the Pacific Avenue school as a commercial district, the council last evening authorized the removal to this site of a grocery store which was formerly on a lot next to the school, which had been purchased by the school board.

MONTROSE

MONTROSE C. OF C. TO HOLD SESSION

House-Warming and Business Meeting to Take Place on Nov. 6

The next meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday, November 6, will be a three-featured affair, according to plans made at the last meeting.

Routine business will be one feature. An entertainment arranged by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins will follow the business session and these two will be combined as a sort of house warming for the new home of the Chamber of Commerce, which will hold its first meeting in the new Montrose school building just completed.

School trustees of the district have tendered the use of the building for these meetings and the Chamber will hold all future meetings there instead of in the Montrose Bank building as heretofore.

Consolidation Plan

Among other important community business scheduled for consideration is the consolidation of Montrose and La Crescenta and incorporation as one city.

Mrs. Hopkins has arranged several musical numbers and there will be dancing. Refreshments will be served.

Officers and members of this energetic Chamber of Commerce feel that they have at last a permanent meeting place that will serve until the time when the city can build a chamber of commerce building.

First meetings were held in the Montrose hardware store and later in the bank building. Neither of these were satisfactory as permanent locations. In the new meeting place there will be plenty of room and seats for a large meeting as the school board will furnish a number of chairs in addition to those owned by the chamber.

Seek Best Slogan

Theodore Belanger, chairman of the publicity committee of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce, has offered a prize of $5 for the best slogan submitted descriptive of Montrose.

As example of what is wanted, Glendale's slogan, "The Fastest Growing City in America," may be used as a guide.

The publicity committee desires a snappy, short but meaty, descriptive slogan to use in advertising the advantages of this fast developing community.

Slogans should be left at the Belanger drug store, or mailed to Theo. Belanger, before November 6, the date of the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Selection will be made and the winner announced at that time.

Grant McCormack is making additions to his barber shop building on Montrose avenue. When finished there will be two additional store rooms for rent.

Girl Scouts of the Montrose-Crescenta district will have a Halloween party, Saturday evening, October 27, in the La Crescenta school auditorium.

Legion Planning to Observe Armistice Day

Plans for a monster parade and celebration on Monday, November 12, are being formed by the American Legion post, according to E. L. Sullivan, who appeared before the representatives of the various organizations who were present at the fire fund committee meeting in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Mr. Sullivan stated that all local organizations are urged to participate in the parade and the exercises that will be held, and which will include a big program of sports and entertainment.

ORPHEUS CLUB TO RENDER CONCERT

Glendale Commandery Has Noted Musicians for Thursday Night

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, and Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, are commending to Glendalians the concert to be given Thursday night in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium, by the Orpehus club of Los Angeles under the auspices of Glendale Commandery, 53, Knights Templar.

These three prominent Glendale women and other Glendale music lovers know the talent and standards of the Orpheus singers and their director, Hugo Kirchhoffer and always accord them a hearty welcome in Glendale.

Sixty in Club

There are sixty talented singers in the Orpheus club, and, in addition to the ensemble work, the club possesses a splendid quartet, the "Orpheus Four," Samuel Glass, tenor; Paul Adams, second tenor; V. A. Campbell, baritone; H. M. Dudley, bass.

The repertoire of this choral group is always well balanced and attractive and for the concert Thursday night, the program has a wide appeal. It will include: "The Haymaking" (Alfred Dard); "When the Roses Bloom" (Lewis Reichert); "Invitation" (Carl Hoffman); "Forest Harps" (Edwin Schultz); "Kiliarney" (M. W. Balfe); "Laughing" (Franz Abt); "Serenade" (Franz Schubert); "Dance of the Gnomes" (Edward MacDowell); "Sunset" (Beardsley Van de Water) by the club, and two groups of songs by the "Orpehus Four."

Famous Orpheus Four

Harmony by the "Orpheus Four" will be one of the features of the concert.

Proceeds from the concert are to be used to carry on Masonic work.

Tickets are on sale at various local business houses, listed in the advertisement appearing in The Glendale Evening News.

High School Students to Enjoy Halloween

The entire student body of the G. U. H. S. has received an invitation to be the guests of the Kiwanis club on the evening of October 31st at a Hallowe'en party.

The students will meet at 7 o'clock at the northeast corner of the high school grounds, where a parade will be formed to march up Brand boulevard and back to the athletic grounds. There entertainment will be provided and prices awarded for the best costumes and floats.

Famous Quartet to Sing in Glendale

SAFETY ASKED BY PEDESTRIANS

Contractors Erecting Buildings Should Warn Public of Danger

That contractors erecting a building should take every precaution for the safety of pedestrians is the opinion of Mrs. Edith Boyden Holway of 201 West Burchett street, who states that she was painfully injured Sunday night when she fell in an uncovered excavation near a building in the course of construction.

Mrs. Holway in telling of the accident says: "On my way to church Sunday evening I experienced a severe fall owing to the inexcusable neglect of builders in failing to place lanterns in front of a building which is in process of construction on Burchett between Orange street and Brand boulevard.

Suffers From Shock

"The sidewalk where heavy trucks pass in and out of the lot is one mass of broken cement, and in order to avoid a fall, in trying to pick my way across in the dark, I stepped to the right and plunged headlong into a deep hole, which was left uncovered. I sorely bruised my right elbow, tore my coat sleeves and suffered from shock.

"An auto which was passing at the time stopped and its occupants very kindly offered me assistance. I was obliged to return to my home, and consider it a miracle that no bones were broken.

"My son went through a similar experience recently on West Milford, and I believe it is high time that builders in Glendale are awakened to a sense of their duty towards pedestrians and their criminal neglect in so frequent a violation of a city ordinance."

To conceive anything the mind must create a mental picture and entertain its possibility.

Daughter Born to Prof. and Mrs. Alfred Cookman

An eight-pound daughter was born to Professor and Mrs. Alfred Cookman of 336 Pioneer drive at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Monday, October 29, 1923. She has been named Elizabeth Clark Cookman and is preparing already to give her father a study in the Wild Life of California, he claims.

Professor Cookman was the author of the article appearing in The Glendale Evening News yesterday regarding native wild birds. His name was inadvertently omitted. However, we give him the honor today of being the bouncing father of a proud daughter, as well as a naturalist of note.

J. O. C. Class Combines Party and Business

The J. O. C. class of the Pacific Avenue M. E. church held their regular business and social meeting on Friday, October 26, at the home of Mrs. Robinson, 451 Riverdale drive. It was an open meeting, and members and friends attended in the forms of ghosts, farmers, farmers' wives, Aunt Jemima, Uncle Joe, deputy sheriff, clowns and other comic caricatures.

When no one could recognize any one else there was a grand march around the rooms, after which the unmasking took place. Several interesting games preceded a short business meeting under the direction of the newly appointed president, Mrs. Alice Brown.

Miss Sara Hommer, first vice-president, reported the convention held last week at Los Angeles. In the report she stated that this class received honorable mention on several different occasions.

The Hallowe'en party was the result of a membership contest held some time ago, the losing side choosing this way to entertain the winners.

After the program, refreshments were served, consisting of doughnuts, pumpkin pie, apples and coffee.

5000 Plan to Attend Friends' Church Meet

It is expected 5000 persons will attend the sessions of the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Southern California Church School Council of Religious Education, to be held in Whittier, November 8, 9 and 10, in the Friends' church.

The program, according to Hugh C. Gibson, general secretary, is the strongest the committee has ever offered and covers every phase of activity from the most thoroughly organized city school to the smallest in the rural districts.

Dr. Hugh S. Magill, new international general secretary, a great speaker and leader, will contribute valuable addresses and other important services to the convention. He was a member of the Illinois senate from 1911 to 1914.

Mid-Year Graduation Abolished at G. H. S.

Hereafter there will be no mid-year graduation exercises at the G. U. H. S. This was definitely decided upon at a meeting of the members of the A-12 class last week when they voted by a large majority to postpone such exercises until June.

Any student who completes the work at the middle of the year and wishes to enter college will be given the proper credentials at that time. Exercises for all students who complete their work in the given year will be held in June at which time the diplomas will be conferred. Should any student not be able to come at that time, the diplomas will be forwarded by mail.

NEW SEELIG STORE

John T. and Mary E. Dickman have leased part of Lot 44, Fairview subdivision, in northwest Glendale, to Sam Seelig for a period of ten years. This notation in the realty transfers of the day means another Seelig public market for Glendale, it is indicated, making about five in the local trade territory.

GLENDALE PUPILS ARE IN MAJORITY

Twenty-five Students Attend Pacific Union College at St. Helena

Glendale has a larger representation at Pacific Union College, St. Helena, than any other city on the Pacific coast; although it is nearly 550 miles distant. The school is a cosmopolitan center where young people have come from eight foreign countries and sixteen different states for study.

Of Glendale's five girls and twenty boys there, six are enrolled in the pre-medical course. George Paap, Wallar Alsberge and Harold Sanford plan to graduate this term, while Helen Green, Franklin Fisher and Harry Lovell are studying the first year of pre-medical.

Joseph Cummins graduates next spring from the college literary course. Aside from his studies he has charge of all the gymnasium work this year.

Lola Preston, former English teacher at the Glendale Academy, is now taking advanced work at P. U. C. She is acting chairman of the Girls' Hour Committee, and is heading many of the school activities.

Ruth Prout, one of Dr. Henry R. Harrower's stenographers at the laboratory for over a year, is private secretary to W. E. Nelson, president of the college.

Other Glendalites enrolled are: Robert Tower, Wayne Wells and Henry Schmidt, juniors; Lucille Kester, Erving Rogers, Dalton Engleberg, Cecil and Iris Chrisman, Rollin Axtell, Mervin Peterson and John Ostendorph, who are enjoying their first year at P. U. C.

Thursday five more young people drove down with Mrs. Davidson to visit relatives and friends in this vicinity.

Richard Buck Tells Truth About Trip

Richard Buck is the son of R. A. Buck, 810 East Maple street. He took occasion to visit Santa Ana last week. He returned home all safe, but he had gained notoriety which he unjustly deserved.

Now it happens, according to his father, that Dick had occasion to take a trip "on his own," but he doesn't tell any falsehoods regarding his whereabouts, or his parents. That was the way an item in The Glendale Evening News was misconstrued when police failed to find Dick's father at home, after Santa Ana police reported they had found the lad in the Orange county seat.

And it was a mighty fine thing to have this boy's "dad" come to The Evening News office with his son last evening to tell the world that his boy tells the truth. Yes, siree. Dick says he is going to stick by his "dad" when he sticks up for him thataway.

Organize for Chest Collection Campaign

The campaign committee of the Glendale Welfare Chest met last night in the Chamber of Commerce to organize for the campaign that is to be held from November 19 to 24 and to select the captains who will have the direction of the teams that will solicit the funds for the chest.

Captains were tentatively chosen for each district in the city, using the voting precinct as the unit. These captains, in turn, will bring together their own groups of assistants and will have them prepared for the work of the campaign in plenty of time to canvass the city thoroughly when the drive starts.

Passengers Injured In Street Car Crash

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—More than a score of persons were injured here yesterday afternoon when a Los Angeles railway street car crashed into another car which was discharging passengers at First street and Santa Fe avenue. The accident is said to have been caused when a barrel of oil from a truck fell and covered the tracks, preventing the street car from gaining traction as it slid down on the other car.

Elephant tusks are frequently shipped to market without covering and with the address painted on the ivory.

EARLY MAN WON OVER OUR SNAKES

Science Discovers Things About This Garden of Eden Not So Pleasant

Eugene Brown, who resides at 321 South Lincoln avenue, Glendale, at many times in his writing for newspapers has insisted that this was the original garden of Eden. According to the following article, earliest man inhabited Southern California, but it was a rather uncomfortable garden, the scientists say:

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 30.—Twenty-five thousand years ago, when the world was filled with great, crawling reptiles man won the battle for survivorship on the North American continent and settled upon the coast of Southern California. This fact has been definitely established, according to the belief of H. J. Harrington, of the Smithsonian institution in charge of excavations here during which human skulls and relics of a hitherto unknown age have been brought to light.

With this discovery all former theories held by scientists as to the first appearance of man upon the American continent are proved incorrect by fifteen thousand years or more, Dr. Harrington believes. The early Santa Barbara man was older than the Neanderthal species of Europe and lived before the low-browed Java ape man ranged the valleys of Asia. The famous Heidelberg man was a contemporary of the early California type, according to Dr. Harrington.

Revises Theory

The discovery of the skulls here, Dr. Harrington stated today will bring about a complete revision of the theory that primitive man first came to North America from Asia across Behring straits ten thousand years ago and then worked south. The discoveries in the newly opened excavations point to a civilization fifteen thousand years earlier than this when dinosaurs and winged serpents inhabited the oozy mud flats that steamed in the heat and gloom of the days before history began.

Deep interest in the discoveries by Harrington are expressed by scientists in all parts of the country and Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, head of the Smithsonian institution, has wired for a complete report of the activity here. Further investigation and deeper excavations may bring to light an even earlier period of the world's history, the investigators declared today and work will go forward immediately in new and deeper levels of the earth.

Oratorio Section of Music Club to Meet

Mrs. Charles A. Parker, curator of the Oratorio Section of the Glendale Music club, is urging all members of the club who are singers to attend the meeting Tuesday night of the section at the Glendale Union High School.

There will be a business meeting at 7:30 o'clock and work on Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be begun at 8 o'clock under the direction of John Smallman.

The meeting will be in the music room and if it is necessary the company will adjourn to the auditorium.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president, states that any Glendalian wishing to join can pay the dues of $5 and be entitled to take part in the oratorio as well as have a reserved seat for the club programs during the year.

'Glendale, America,' Is Sufficient Address

Convincing evidence that a letter started any place in the world addressed to "Glendale, America," would reach its destination, Glendale, California, the Fastest Growing City in the United States, is furnished in an envelope received recently from Berlin, Germany.

There's a decided pre-war atmosphere about this envelope, for in addition to bearing two stamps of 400 marks each, amounting to $200 before the war, it is addressed to the Bachman studios, 831 East Windsor road, a pre-war motion picture center in Glendale.

The Bachman studios have passed into history, and according to word from overseas the German mark is also somewhat passe as far as value is concerned.

Women's Council Will Have Good Debates

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 30.—Problems both political and social will receive consideration by the National Council of Women, who tonight open their six-day biennial session here.

The activities of the Ku Klux Klan, enforcement of prohibition or its modification, birth control, the new moral codes, child welfare, world peace, education and immigration are slated to cause considerable controversy on the floor of the convention.

Mrs. Phillip North Moore, president of the council, commenting on prohibition, indicated that modification will have strong advocaes in he sessions.

Genuine Interest Shown In Salesmanship Club of The Glendale Evening News

By J. A. MALCOLM
Manager Salesmanship Club

Deep interest manifested so early in The Glendale Evening News Salesmanship Club is indeed pleasing to the management of the paper. All day Monday came inquiries from interested people, both in Glendale and the surrounding neighborhood towns, in regard to the Salesmanship club, asking for more detailed information.

"What is the Salesmanship Club like?" "How can I join the club?" "What will I have to do to win?" "I am interested, but would like more detailed information before I make up my mind to join the club?" "Can I get the receipt books now?" and so on went the questions.

Inquiries from men and women interested deeply in the big Christmas distribution, but desiring more information before joining.

Alive to Opportunity

The response has been the heartiest and more immediate than is usual in similar campaigns in the writer's experience. The people of Glendale and surrounding territory are alive to the opportunity that is offered by joining the club, and there are very few men and women, who have noticed the advertisement, and who have understood the offer, who have not felt interested, in a greater or less degree. That is as it should be, for the people of Glendale and surrounding territory are business men and women, alive to every opportunity of making money and adding to their resources.

Generous Offer

This paper offers $10,500 worth of prizes and cash commissions to the residents of Glendale and surrounding territory to help increase the circulation, to help build a real paper for Glendale and surrounding territory that will have a hearty welcome in every home and business place in Glendale and surrounding towns, a paper that will furnish you all of the local news from all of your neighboring towns, and an advertising medium for the business men, that will be second to none.

With this end in view, and the valuable prizes that are offered, for the co-operation of the residents of Glendale and surrounding territory is the reason that the first announcement of the Salesmanship Club has brought such a hearty response.

Many Enter Club

Housewives, business people, high school students, salesmen, all are joining the club and planning for a real fight for subscriptions. The offer means much to every one of them. The first list of club members who have been nominated will be published in an issue later this week of the Glendale Evening News. Watch for them. Will your name be in that list? Remember, right now you are given an opportunity to join a free prize salesmanship club.

To win you do not have to finish first. On the contrary, you may run near the bottom of the long list of club members, and still win a prize that is well worth your while. For you CANNOT LOSE, even if you do fail to win a prize, you will receive a cash commission of 25 per cent of the total amount you have turned in on new subscriptions and 15 per cent cash commission on all old

PRINCIPAL LAUDS STUDENT SPIRIT

Pupils at Glendale Academy Preparing for Period Examinations

"We are well pleased with the co-operative spirit among the students and the successful work they are doing," said Principal D. A. Ochs Monday morning at the new Glendale Academy in Sycamore canon. "Our 131 academic and 212 grammar grade students are busy this week getting ready for the first period examinations."

A stranger walking through the corridors would soon know from the catchy posters about that something unusual was going to happen. The campaign opens Tuesday for the school paper, The College Key. The staff has been elected with Marcia Banta editor-in-chief and Ezra Richards assistant editor. The student body has appointed Loren Rosenfelt president. They are entering enthusiastically into all their activities.

Fix Work Benches

Under the direction of Prof. W. F. Van Atta the twenty-two boys in the woodworking department were busy Monday morning putting the finishing touches on their work benches. Each bench will be equipped with a full set of individual tools. Some power machinery is now in and more is being installed.

Work is progressing in the music department with Rika Hartog as teacher. A chorus of fifty voices and a band have recently been organized. They plan to give programs later in the year. But the paving work on Sycamore Canyon drive makes it necessary to postpone Saturday night entertainments for the present.

FAILS TO EXPLODE

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—A bomb containing fifteen pounds of dynamite, which police estimated was powerful enough to wreck the big downtown building behind which it lay, was found yesterday evening by pedestrians. A three-foot fuse had been ignited, but the fire had died.

JUNIOR SWEATERS

The members of the junior class of the Glendale Union High school at a meeting last week decided thaat the class sweater should be plain black with a red and black monogram on the lower left-hand side.

WELFARE CHEST'S AIMS EXPLAINED

Dr. Warren Z. Newton Tells of Advantages Gained by Organization

"With the naming of the date for the Glendale Welfare Chest drive, which has been fixed for the week of November 19 to 24, and the start of the active work of the campaign, it is essential that the people of Glendale, who will be asked to contribute to the fund, should have a clear understanding of the aims of the Glendale Welfare Chest and of the disposition of the money they will give," says a statement issued by Dr. Warren Z. Newton, chairman of the publicity committee of the organization today.

"The Welfare Chest" continued Dr. Newton, "is a fund to which the public contributes once a year what it desires to give for charity, welfare and relief work in Glendale. All the people of the city may be said to belong to the Welfare Chest, but legally it is an incorporated body, made up of public spirited men and women banded together to raise the money needed for the city's works of mercy and helpfulness.

Ask All to Contribute

"Everyone in Glendale will be asked to contribute, according to his means and in a spirit of help for those who are in need of any kind, and the people who will benefit by it are the needy, the sick, the unfortunate and the dependent children, among whom the fund that is to be raised will be distributed through those agencies that have helped them in the past."

Each institution affiliated with the Welfare Chest, it is explained, submits a budget showing its operating expenses, and on this budget the committee recommends what sum shall be allotted to each institution for the coming year. This plan is adopted in order that separate drives or campaigns for funds may be ended and the funds for charitable and welfare work be raised all at one time, with a consequent reduction in collecting cost and solicitation of the people of Glendale.

How It Works

The Welfare Chest does not interfere with the independent management of the various agencies affiliated with it, each of these being free to carry on its traditional activities. Contributors may designate what institutions they desire their donations to go to.

The Welfare Chest is non-political and non-sectarian, and all creeds are represented in the institutions aided, as well as institutions without any religious affiliations whatever. No funds are allotted to denominational institutions to be used for religious purposes, nor will any funds be expended for any purposes other than genuine humanitarian and welfare work.

"Welfare institutions," said Dr. Newton, "those not engaged in charity work, are also helped by the fund because of their work in training the boys and girls to be self-respecting, and teaching them to be better citizens. To help a boy or girl improve in character

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

Menu Planning, No. 2

Yesterday we talked in general on the needs of the child and I gave you a foundation upon which to build your menus. Today we will review this foundation and go on with our story.

The Best Foundation for each day consists of—first, The Protective Foods: 1½ pints of milk (at least); 1 full cup of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables) part of them raw; and one cup of fruit, part fresh if possible—and second, Energy Foods: cereals, including whole grain breads; fats in the form of butter or cream; egg yolks, and nuts.

You will give your child other foods besides these I have listed, but if he has Part I as the minimum basis for every day, we can be pretty sure that the complete protein, mineral elements and the vitamins will largely be taken care of, and—especially if the energy foods are properly chosen—that there will be a predonerance of alkalinizing foods in the diet.

The amount of energy foods to be included in the basic foundation diet will depend upon the age of the child, his activity and other factors. (I will explain this later.) Remember that the child is going to need a lot of good Energy Foods and a large share should come from those I have listed. If he has those in sufficient and liberal amounts as a basis, they will help supply vitamins and minerals and proteins as well as furnish energy.

If you see that he gets the proportionate part of the Protective Foods for each meal, he will—if he is normal—automatically stoke up his little tummy with sufficient Energy Foods. If he is undernourished or over-nourished, you may have to do a little "seeing" about his Energy Foods also.

Wood Comstock has called milk, vegetables, fruit and cereals (which will include breads), the Food Quartet. They sing a merry song, this Food Quartet! Notice that they take up practically the whole of our program for the day.

Now let us recall the big Sextet (proteins, carbohydrates, fats, mineral elements, vitamins and water), the larger elemental food group from which the Quartet is made, and see what part each member of that has to play on our menu program:

PROTEINS (Growth and Repair Foods):—

If the child has a pint and a half to a quart of milk a day, served as a drink and in simple custards or sauces, or cooked in a cereal, he will have 110 to 116 calories in proteins right there, because there are approximately five calories of proteins in an ounce of mlik. The milk will furnish so much protein—and that of the very best kind, super-complete—that it will be a safeguard for his protein needs.

If he has from three to six slices of whole wheat bread, this will furnish 48 to 90 calories more. For in a full size of whole wheat bread half an inch thick there are 16 calories of protein.

If he has one to two eggs, or three to five rounding tablespoonfuls of cottage cheese, or an ounce or two of lean meat or fish, or nuts or nut butter, he will have from 25 to 75 calories more of protein. Other foods will add a little store of protein also.

All of these approximate from 215 to 395 calories of protein a day. This is relatively more than an adult needs, but a child needs more protein in proportion to his weight, than an adult does. You will remember from our lessons on proteins that a child needs considerable extra protein for his growth. If there should be a little excess above the minimum requirements, it will be utilized as an Energy Food.

This shows you that if you have a minimum of three glasses of milk a day, whole wheat bread, and one other relatively high protein food, you need not worry about the protein or the kind of protein in your diet.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Daily Fashion Hint

Prepared Especially for The Glendale Evening News

EFFECTIVE IN COCOA CREPE

The Autumn mode shows its diversity in no more convincing manner than in the tiered frocks. This stunning model in cocoa crepe features a two-piece side-closing skirt with three tiers, and a long-waisted blouse that may be made either with long or short sleeves. The back is extended over the shoulders and joined to the gathered fronts. A turn-down collar finished the neck, and a ribbon pendant is added for the piquant touch. Medium size requires 5½ yards 40-inch material.

Pictorial Review Blouse No. 1614. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust and 16 to 20 years. Price 30 cents. Skirt No. 1602. Sizes 24 to 34 inches waist. Price 30 cents.

STRAIGHT AND SEVERELY YOUTHFUL

A slip-on dress of gray or old-rose Georgette can look very demure and chic if a deep lace collar is added to the round neck. Fashionable collars nowadays come in two parts, as a rule, with the order reversed so that the deeper section is at the front. Two tiers with hemstitched hems are added to the skirt of this model and the girdle of self-material may or may not be finished at the back with sash-ends. Medium size requires 4½ yards 36-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1775. Sizes, 18 and 20 years, and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price 45 cents.

ANSWERED LETTERS

R. A. J.—Massage your scalp every day until it glows from the increased circulation, and I think you will find that your hair is growing again. Remove the tan with cucumber juice.

Olive Complexion—A girl who is five feet, one inch in height at 16 years of age should weigh about 110 pounds. As you wear a number five shoe of unusual width, 13 inches about the calf would be a proportionate measurement.

Marietta G.—Of the foods you mention the fattening ones are milk (unless it is skimmed), butter, pork, bacon, beans. If the bread is made of white flour, it also is fattening; and of the fruit, bananas and grapes. All other fruit is only fattening in proportion to the sugar that it contains.

C. C. C.—For the excessive perspiration under your arms, after bathing with an antiseptic soap, powder with a talcum that is made astringent by having a small amount of burnt alum added to it; about one part alum to 15 parts talcum.

Hopeful—It is very likely that the powdered sugar and the ice cream salt you are handling for so many hours each day, has something to do with the condition of your nails.

Protect your hands with washable gloves whenever possible, but withal, you should massage as much oil each night into the base of your nails as they will absorb. Use pumice stone to smooth the ridges.

B. B.—Fatten your wrists by massaging olive oil into them daily.

Ruth T.; Marann; Eve C.; Brown Eyes; Hopeful—I will be glad to mail the formula for eyelashes and brows if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

B. B. R.—In about a month the natural gloss returns to the hair, so whatever harshness results from the dye will be gone; after this, there will be a gradual fading out of the color, but it will never be the old shade except as the new hair grows out from the root. It is quite possible to extract dye from hair, just as dye is removed from straw, but it would be an exceptionally strong head of hair that could survive the treatment; and I would not advise that it be attempted.

Jackie B.; Over Weight—To reduce the upper arms and shoulders, place the fingers on the points of the shoulders and rotate the shoulders in a circle.

For reducing the thighs take a squatting position, hands on hips, knees bent forward so the legs are at right angle to the trunk, heels raised so weight is on the toes, and one foot ahead of the other so as to hold a balance. Now rise and lower to the squatting position, repeating these motions in a moderate way, until you are tired. As the muscles of the thighs are very strong, it will be almost impossible to strain them from too much exercising.

DISHES IN THIS WEEK'S MENUS

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast
Oranges
Cereal
Fried Liver and Bacon
Coffee Muffins

Luncheon
Egg Salad, Mayonnaise Dressing
Wholewheat Bread
Cocoa Marmalade

Dinner
Braised Meat Balls
Sweet Potato Croquettes
Stewed Tomatoes
Lettuce, French Dressing
Coffee Raisin Pie

Braised Meat Balls: These may be made with almost any kind of left-over cooked meat. (Last Sunday's menu called for roast lamb, so I assume there is still some left for this dish.) Put the cold meat through your food chopper and measure. You will need two cups of the chopped meat. Add to it one teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper, one egg (beaten) and two tablespoons of fine breadcrumbs; mix well and form into eight small balls, with the hands. Brown these balls in a little bacon fat, in your frying pan, then put them into a baking dish with the pan drippings and add one-half can of tomatoes, one each of diced uncooked carrots and celery, one parboiled sweet pepper cut fine, and one more teaspoon of salt. Cover the dish closely and slip it into a moderate oven to cook for two hours, when the vegetables should be tender. Serve hot, in the same dish.

Lettuce Sandwiches: When the family tires of lettuce served as a salad, serve it in sandwich form. Simply press a crisp leaf of lettuce between two buttered slices of wholewheat bread. We need a great deal of lettuce in our diet (as well as other greens, and fruit), but we must not let these indispensable foods become monotonous.

Sweet Potato Croquettes: Put through your food chopper enough cold, boiled sweet potatoes to make one and one-half cupsful. Add to this one tablespoon of brown sugar, the beaten yolk of one egg and salt, pepper, mace and ground cinnamon to suit your individual liking. Mix well together, then form into small croquettes with the hands. Roll these little cakes in fine bread crumbs, then in unbeaten egg, and once more in the crumbs before frying them in bacon fat.

Cheese Souffle: Begin by making the following White Sauce: Melt three tablespoons of butter in a small saucepan, stir into it three tablespoons of bread flour, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and a pinch of white pepper; let cook slowly till it bubbles, then remove from intense heat and gradually add one cup of sweet milk. Let continue to cook over mild heat and gradually add one cup of sweet milk. Let continue to cook over mild heat till it thickens. While this sauce is still hot, add to it one-half cup of finely chopped or grated mild American cheese, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and a dash of red pepper; remove from heat and add the yolks of three eggs beaten till thick, then let the mixture cool. When almost cold, cut and fold into it the stiffly whipped whites of three eggs and turn all into a buttered baking dish. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven and serve at once.

Tomorrow—The Restless Housekeeper.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: There is a girl in my community who is rather decent at times, but who gets vulgar when with a certain other girl who is her cousin. She writes me letters which are affectionate, but she never gives me any dates. She is easy to coax into indecent company, which worries me on account of her father who is a good friend of mine.

She is sixteen and I think this may be the cause of her wild ways. I have been hoping she will turn out differently. What is your opinion?

UNLOVED LAD.

It is really not your place to concern yourself with the girl's conduct. She has just as much right to her ways of thinking and living as you have to yours, since she does not belong to you in any way. Of course you are interested, because you seem to care for her. Since she will not go anywhere with you, it seems to me you are wasting time giving her so much thought. Try to forget her and find an interest in some other girl.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman, thirty years old. My neighbors and relations are all the time trying to cause trouble between my husband and me. I stay at home all the time and don't go any place with a man. Even so I am criticised. I don't know what to do. I am sick about all the time. I try to make my husband a good home but he doesn't appreciate it. He throws other fellows up to me when I am innocent.

My folks never help me out when I am sick, but always come when I am able to cook and do for them.

Please advise me which way to turn as I am between two fires.

TROUBLED ONE.

You are badly in need of a vacation in order to get a new viewpoint. If you could only go away for a while, you would return to your home with a new desire to be happy there, and your husband would have a chance to realize the place you have filled in the home.

It seems to me your discouraged attitude is a handicap to you. Instead of looking on the bright side of things and refusing to let the unpleasant drag down your spirits, you are ready to look on the dark side of everything. Naturally when you are discouraged, sick and resentful, you make your husband unhappy too. Change your attitude to one of hopefulness and you will find much more in life to encourage you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady in my twenties and have fallen in love with a young man thirty years old. I have known him a week and he is leaving in two weeks for California. He wants me to marry him. Please give me some advice. ANXIOUS.

You have known the young man so short a time that you have little reason to be confident your love would last. It seems to me you ought to be more sure that you and the man you marry are suited to each other. Do not give a definite answer yet, because in the two weeks more you have together, much may happen to help you to make up your mind. Perhaps after your acquaintance has continued you will not be so deeply in love with him.

Marriage is a step not to be taken hastily. It seems to me it would be wise to let the man go on and if your love endures a reasonable length of time, there would be less danger of an unhappy marriage.

THE LADIES—BLESS THEIR HEARTS

MASON CITY, Ia., Oct. 30.—Miss Helen Schultz, 24 and with flashing dark eyes is pitting her resourcefulness, her personal resources and her undying faith in justice against powerful railroad interests in an effort to save her business. She operates 24 bus lines out of this city and seeks a renewal of her permit from the state railroad commission. Interests are being brought to bear, however, to hold up the permit, she asserts. Her bus line covers territory which can be reached by railroad.

BATESVILLE, Ark., Oct. 30.—A direct descendant of Betty Ross of Revolutionary war fame, resides here. She is Mrs. Betsy Ross Martin. Her grandmother was a niece of the historic character who sewed the first American flag, and Mrs. Martin recalls hearing from her grandmother's lips tales of the famous woman as the grandmother recalled her. The grandmother also told of her remembrances of George Washington. She lives alone and earns her living selling articles on the street.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Clara Dunlop Pease may soon boast of a suit for every day in the week. Not the kind you wear, but the kind you air in court. She sued her husband Edwin A. Pease, wealthy Aurora, Ill., manufacturer, for divorce. She named Miss Harriet Setzer in the petition, and sued Miss Setzer for $100,000. Now Miss Setzer has sued her for the same amount. So Mrs. Pease is plaintiff in two cases and defendant in two.

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—When friends of Mrs. James W. Coleman heard the rumor that her husband gone away with an eastern beauty prize winner and had married the girl, they rushed to tell her, believing it "for the best," of course. They expected Mrs. Coleman would either faint or start for a lawyer's office. But she did neither. She said "Let him go." The girl's parents feel differently, however, and have asked police to help bring her back.

BURBANK

STATISTICS SHOW BURBANK GROWTH

Second in Building Gains Out of 251 Cities Named in Bulletin

Enthusiastic Burbank boosters may prepare themselves to receive a new supply of the stuff of which boosters are made, namely, high-voltage facts. Out of 251 reporting cities, according to a recent S. W. Strauss financial bulletin, Burbank shows the greatest building gain second to St. Louis, for the nine months' period closing October 1, a gain of 70 per cent, compared with 63 per cent gains for both Glendale and Los Angeles. St. Louis had 83 per cent.

The average gain in the 251 reporting cities was 25 per cent, as compared with the same period of 1922. Chicago gained 60 per cent, Detroit 38 per cent, Seattle 35 per cent, New York 26 per cent and Philadelphia 19 per cent.

Burbank's building permit records for the nine months' period of 1922 show a total of $908,715, as against $1,524,562 for the first five months of 1923.

Burbank in Valley League

Al Barton is determined Burbank shall put a team in the San Fernando Valley league now forming, even if he has to play all nine positions himself, and in addition promote and manage the team.

That no baseball glory came to Burbank last year was due to the unavailably of the only possible funds to outfit a team, declares Barton, who threatens to finance the team himself and reap all the profits, if civic pride in the king of sports continues to be indifferent.

The following teams are already signed up in the valley league: Glendale, Hollywood, San Fernando, Van Nuys, Owensmouth, Lankershim and Zelzah, with a berth left open for Burbank if she can finance it.

New Postal Clerk

That well known "deaf ear" at Washington, in the postoffice department, has at last heard the lament of Postmaster Coffman and has allowed him an additional regular clerk for this office.

M. McFarland of the Glendale office has been secured for the post, his duties to start Thursday, November 1. He will be placed in the dispatching department. As he has had ten years' experience as a railway mail clerk, it is apparent that his acquisition materially strengthens the force.

Burbank now boasts four regular postal clerks, Mr. Coffman states.

Record Attendance at Sunday School

New scholars were enrolled in five departments of the Sunday school of the Broadway Methodist church last Sunday and the attendance was the largest in the history of the school.

The Epworth League devotional, led by Miss Doris Barnett, was unusually interesting, some twenty-five young people taking an active part. Will J. Myers, choir director and leader, sang solos at both morning and evening services.

Rev. Sutherland, D. D., of San Diego, who had been announced as the speaker of the night service, was prevented from filling his appointment, and the sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. L. J. Millikan, who took for his theme "The Program of Life" as adopted by David at the beginning of his reign as king, and he pleaded with his congregation to pattern their lives after the program chosen by this great servant of God.

The morning sermon was by Rev. James T. French, D. D., of Selma, choosing for his subject "The Language of Pentecost," 1st Corinthians, 13:1, "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not love, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."

He said in part: "At Babel the people were confounded because of many tongues, while at Pentecost they were confounded because of but one language—the language of love. The race had lost even the memory of its original blessing. In many countries the people are mystified by grave problems, but the religion of Jesus Christ, under the light and power of Pentecost, actually solves all problems. It is essential that people of different races and different religions should understand each other.

"When the language is enriched with love it becomes actually intoxicating; then it transforms us from the heirs of death into children of immortality."

Armistice Day Closing Favored by Merchants

The members of the Glendale Merchants' Association expressed themselves as favoring the closing of local business firms on Armistice Day, which is to be celebrated on Monday, November 11, this year, at their meeting in Jensen's Egyptian Village.

W. P. Potter, one of the ticket committee of the fire victims fund, reported that almost half of the 763 tickets for the benefit to be staged November 6 have been sold and stated that the entire house will be sold out at $5 a seat before the benefit is held.

The regular routine business of the association was transacted.

Dr. Newton Explains Welfare Chest Need

is one of the best investments a community can make.

Reason For Chest

"Many people ask why they should not give direct to charity. That may be a good plan in smaller communities, but it is impossible in a city of this size, for the average person does not often come into contact with acute distress. There are organizations, that perform a city's works of mercy, and they look to the Welfare Chest for their maintenance."

Persons who contribute to the Welfare Chest are not expected to contribute to any other funds, except those of some particular sect or organization to which they belong or in which they are specially interested.

The Welfare Chest, or as it is more commonly known, the Community Chest, has proven a success in over 100 American cities, according to its exponents, and it permits a saving of approximately 10 per cent of all funds raised. The difference permits the purchase of more milk for the babies, more hospital beds for the sick, and more relief of all sorts.

Experience has shown, Dr. Newton declares, that the wealthy people of those cities where the Welfare Chest is in operation contribute as much and more than they did under the separate campaigns.

Towing Disabled Subs To Charleston Harbor

Light Shed on 'Light' by Keith L. Brooks

Speaking before the Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible class at the city council chambers Sunday morning, Keith L. Brooks threw many sidelights on the last half of the opening chapter of Genesis. He said:

"Many have considered it a serious difficulty that while light was called forth on the first day, the sun and moon are not said to have been placed as light-giving bodies until the fourth day. The French atheist, Voltaire, raised a laugh on Moses for teaching that light existed before the sun. In those days, some two hundred years ago, Christians were unable to answer him. About eighty-five years ago Von Humboldt discovered that light was before the sun and that the sun is not the source of light but an attracting and diffusing body.

"The Scripture tells us that these luminaries were to have several purposes in relation to the earth. They were to divide the day and night.

"The framer of our bodies mercifully divided the day from the night that we might sleep and wake at intervals that would be best for our physical health. But for this arrangement we would have become a race of nervous wrecks, if not extinct, long before now. The heavenly bodies were also to be for signs. A sign is that which points to something beyond. The wise men at the birth of Jesus would not have followed the star unless some definite prophecies and promises were known to be connected with the stars.

Another purpose of the heavenly bodies was for the regulation of the seasons. In the early ages the rolling heavens was all the almanac they had. Spring, summer, plowing, sowing and reaping, were regulated by the rising and setting of certain constellations.

"Any reasonable man must see that the heavens declare the majesty and glory of the Creator, who must Himself be greater than all He has created. What a colossal fool a man must be to deny the existence of God."

Will Tell Coolidge's Farmers' Aid Plans

DENVER, Oct. 30.—Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and former Congressman Frank Mondell, a director of the corporation, are in Denver to inquire into the conditions affecting wheat growers and to promote development of co-operative marketing of wheat through associations of farmers.

Meyer and Mondell will confer today with directors of the American Wheat Growers' association. Details of the Coolidge plan to give American farmers federal aid will be outlined at the meeting.

Meyer declared, after visiting wheat-growing centers of the west and northwest, that there is a "growing appreciation of the fact that the co-operative marketing movement offers more promise of helpful results along sound lines to the wheat growers than any other program that has been suggested."

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Entitled

Christian Science: The Solution of the World's Problems

By

JOHN RANDALL DUNN, C. S. B.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Delivered in First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Glendale, Calif.

You have noticed many times, without doubt, a certain inscription over exits from buildings and cars which reads: "This Way Out." Often have I wished that I might write below this the words "Christian Science," for every student of this great subject realizes more and more that the understanding and practical application of the Science of Christianity affords the only definite way out of the many problems which confront humanity today.

Nineteen centuries ago the great Teacher of Nazareth pointed the way out of human discords, and rightfully has ever been called "The Wayshower." But have mortals really accepted Jesus as the practical Wayshower out of aught but sin? Have they looked on him as the greatest healer of disease that the world has ever known? Have they realized that on the shores of the Galilean lake were given scientific rules which, when put into operation, would solve here and now the knotty problems of human existence, of capital and labor, of supply and demand, problems of men and of nations? In a word, have mortals been turning naturally to the teachings of Jesus to find present-day salvation from evil?

PRESENT-DAY SALVATION

If a bit of personal reminiscence is permissible, I would say that our family, though conscientious church-goers always, never supposed their sense of Christianity capable of supplanting their quinine and calomel in a case of sickness. Such a thought would have been labeled speedily as far-fetched and not common sense. Quite unconsciously, I am sure, we exemplified the sentiment of the man who said that religion was an excellent thing if not carried too far, and was not allowed to interfere with the practical affairs of life! But because we did not carry our religion far enough and allow it to permeate the innermost details of daily experience, we encountered seemingly unsolvable problems of sickness, of lack, and other forms of inharmony. It was not an uncommon sight to see a member of our family return from church, go promptly to bed, and call for some strong medicine to enable her to overcome a severe headache caused by overwrought emotions. We knew not in those days that emotionalism was the product of the carnal mind, and not of the divine Mind, and that the simple, sweet message of Christ Jesus should heal headaches and still the turbulent emotions. In fact the good news brought by Christian Science to a suffering world is that a scientific understanding of the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth can begin this very day to untangle our snarls and find answers to our many human problems; that Christianity must not only save men from a future hell, but from a present hell—the hell of sickness, lack, fear, hate, and all its unlovely etceteras; that heaven, the reign of harmony, is possible in ever-increasing degree here and now.

AN INSTANCE OF JESUS' HEALING

Let us consider for a moment one of the many examples given us in the Scriptures of Jesus' simple, and yet to our sense marvelous handling of a problem of sickness. Take one of his early healings as recorded in Luke's gospel. He is besought to help the mother of Simon's wife, who is seemingly gravely ill. Apparently the Master makes no inquiries as to the symptoms, does not ask for the cause of the malady, nor does he desire to take her temperature or feel her pulse. Let us see what happened, as recorded by Luke. "And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose and ministered unto them." There was no period of convalescence, no gradual abating of the fever, nor slow recovery of strength, and the great Healer did not caution her about her diet and warn her not to eat too much. "Immediately she arose and ministered unto them"! In the records of its four thousand years medicine cannot find such an astounding cure of fever wrought through any of its material methods. And yet Christ Jesus did not one material thing. He rebuked the fever—the fever, please notice, and not the woman. Now a word is only the audible expression of a thought; hence that which brought about this remarkable healing was wholly mental—in other words, it was something which the Master thought or understood.

HOW DID JESUS HEAL THE SICK?

This mighty understanding we see rebuking unclean spirits, healing epilepsy and all manner of disease; we see it stilling storms; enable Jesus to walk on the water, to feed the multitude, and even to raise the dead. Perhaps the saddest and most grievous error which scholastic theology makes is the relegating of these demonstrations of Jesus' control over evil and materiality to the realm of the miraculous. Theology excuses its failure to do these works on the ground that Jesus was God, and his acts therefore superhuman; notwithstanding the fact that the Master plainly said that of himself he could do nothing, that it was the Father dwelling in him that did the works, and that those who truly believed on him (understood him) would be able to do the things that he did and even greater things. Therefore the all-important question before Christian people today is, Can we as professed followers of the Master do the works which he did? Can we think his thoughts today, and begin to solve our problems by his method? What was it that Jesus thought or understood when he rebuked fevers, stilled storms, overcame lack, and subdued materiality?

MRS. EDDY'S HEALING EXPERIENCES

These questions began to form themselves in the thought of Mary Baker Eddy at an early age. She was a deeply religious child, and has written that she would listen with joy to the assurance of her spiritually-minded mother that God was able to raise her up from sickness (Science and Health, p. 359). And she not only had proofs of this with herself, but on one occasion when a mere slip of a girl she subdued an insane man. It seems that an escaped lunatic rushed into the schoolyard where the little Mary Baker was playing. The man was violent, brandishing above his head a club. The children fled in terror—all but Mary Baker. She walked quietly up to him and took his hand. Instantly his manner changed. The arm with the club dropped to his side, and he walked with her quietly to the gate. In later years, but before the light of Christian Science had streamed in its fulness upon her thought, a woman brought her child to Mrs. Eddy, laid it on her knees, and begged her to ask God to cure its blindness. "Mrs. Eddy has stated that she lifted her thought to God and returned the child to its mother, assuring her that God is able to keep His children. The mother looked at the child's eyes and they were healed." (The Life of Mary Baker Eddy by Sibyl Wilbur, p. 70.)

THE DISCOVERY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

It can be seen plainly that the idea of Christian healing had been budding throughout Mrs. Eddy's earthly experience, and therefore it was perfectly natural years after, when she found herself near the gates of death, again to turn her thoughts towards spiritual aid. She called for the Bible and opened to the ninth chapter of Matthew. As she read the story of the healing of the man sick of the palsy, the great truth for which she had been searching all her life began to dawn upon her thought. She began to touch the hem of the garment of the healing Christ, and to glimpse the answer to the age-old question, "What is truth?" In that glorious moment, and in the months and years of consecrated searching and praying that followed, there was unfolded to Mrs. Eddy Jesus' method of healing, what Jesus must have thought and understood and practiced. In proof of this she not only found herself well, but with this understanding she was able to heal others. In fact, many of Mrs. Eddy's demonstrations of healing are as remarkable as those which are recorded in the Acts of the Apostles. Of such healings she speaks in her writings very briefly and modestly, but we find that cancer, consumption, hip disease, insanity, the morphine and opium habits, and many other forms of sin and sickness all went down speedily before her realization of the might and glory of the Word of God.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEXTBOOK

Then she set about sharing with the world her discovery, and in the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and in what are now called her lesser writings, we find revealed the Science by which Jesus, the apostles, and the prophets unquestionably did their mighty works. The best Christian Science lecture that could possibly be delivered would consist simply in reading to you from these inspired books; but the Bible and Mrs. Eddy's writings should be studied, pondered, and prayed over rather than given only the hasty consideration possible in the few moments allotted for this lecture. If any who listen to this message are led to become sincere students of these God-inspired writings, our time today will have been well spent; for the man, woman, or child who is willing to study Mrs. Eddy's works and begin to put into practice the truths he learns therein, stands indeed at the threshold of a new life. In Science and Health (p. 224) we read: "A higher and more practical Christianity, demonstrating justice and meeting the needs of mortals in sickness and in health, stands at the door of this age, knocking for admission. Will you open or close the door upon this angel visitant, who cometh in the quiet of meekness, as he came of old to the patriarch at noonday?"

"WHAT IS TRUTH?"

On the flyleaf of the textbook Mrs. Eddy has quoted these familiar words of Christ Jesus, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Here is the rule left by the master Metaphysician for the solving of every problem of human experience. All these years it has stood, and all these years have mortals looked on it and then passed it by, uttering again Pilate's plaint, But what is truth? If therefore this Christian Science textbook unlocks that great treasure-house of spiritual understanding, the Bible, and reveals the answer to this question, "What is truth?" is it not well called "the Key to the Scriptures"?

THE BASIS OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Webster defines the word "truth" as the "real state of things; fact; reality; actual being or nature." Now in order to find the "real state of things" and man's "actual being or nature" Mrs. Eddy very properly leads thought to the contemplation of the opening chapter of the Bible. The chapter in the Christian Science textbook entitled "Genesis" contains without doubt the most remarkable spiritual interpretation of Scripture extant. It emphasizes the fact that in the first and second chapters of Genesis are to be found two separate and distinct records of creation; the first dealing with the spiritual, real creation of God, and the second setting forth an allegory illustrative of a material conception of God and man. On the facts of being set forth in the first chapter, however, the Christian Scientist takes his stand.

THE GOODNESS OF CREATION

What a glorious picture of creation is drawn in this opening chapter of the Old Testament! No evil is here, no fear, no sickness, sin, nor death; but as each object of God's handiwork appears, we read that "God saw that it was good." How could it be otherwise, when the very name of the creator, God, means in the Anglo-Saxon, good! Now Jesus has taught us that God is Spirit, the opposite of the material, and Science and Health amplifies this with the statement that Spirit must be Mind, the all-knowing intelligence. So in the first chapter of Genesis we find that the creator, infinite Mind or Spirit, which is infinitely good, is creating man and the universe like Himself. The great first cause, being good, the effect must be good. We read: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth. . . . And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good."

SPIRITUAL VERSUS MATERIAL CREATION

"But," may interpose some one at this point, "does not this refer to the Adam-man mentioned in the next chapter?" Let the Scriptures answer this query. We read that Adam was formed of the dust of the ground, was material, and became a living (material) soul, apparently capable of knowing good and evil; whereas the man of the first chapter is not material but mental, spiritual, for he is made in the likeness of God, Spirit, Mind, and has been given dominion over all things. These two records of creation are as far apart as the poles.

THE ADAM-DREAM

There is to be found in the second chapter of Genesis a simple statement that apparently has been overlooked by theologists and Bible scholars all these years, a statement, however, of vast import, for it tells us in a few words all we need to know about Adam and materiality. The verse reads: "But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground."

And then with the coming of the mist appeared material man, capable of sinning, being sick, and dying. In Science and Health (p. 523) Mrs. Eddy describes this mist as "mystification," the opposite of understanding. So, while the man of the first chapter of Genesis proceeds from God, the all-knowing Mind, the Adam-man comes with mystification, and is formed of dust. Soon we read that a deep sleep falls upon Adam, and here is another point that many have overlooked: there is no mention of the fact that Adam ever awakened! So in the textbook (p. 306) Mrs. Eddy refers to material sense as the "Adam-dream," in which all mankind seems to be enmeshed, and from which it needs to be awakened.

THE ADAM AND EVE ALLEGORY

At this point some one may ask, "So the Christian Scientist discards entirely the second chapter of Genesis?" Not at all. As stated before, he regards it as a remarkable allegory, depicting the results of dwelling in the mist of material sense, rather than in the sunlight of divine Truth. How marvelously does this narrative parallel the experiences of mortals today! Truly mortal man's origin is shrouded in mist, in ignorance. He knows not why or whence he comes, nor whither he goes. The serpent, evil, subtly suggests that he is sick or uphappy or poverty-stricken, or in bondage to sin, and when he eats of the fruit of this suggestion his eyes seem closed to spiritual sense, and open only to the arguments of error. Thus does he allow the mesmerism of the serpent, evil, to drive him out of his garden of Eden. No, the Christian Scientist finds many grand, helpful lessons in the Adam and Eve allegory; but he never confuses this story with the scientifically spiritual account of creation found in the first chapter of Genesis, where harmony reigns where man is Godlike, and all creation is good.

SEEING THE TRUTH ABOUT MAN

In the book of Ecclesiastes, the distinction between God's man and the material concept is clearly drawn, where we read, "Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions." A little child had listened to the reading of that verse, and it impressed him greatly. Shortly after he found his grandmother had taken to her bed, and seemed to be quite ill. The little fellow appeared perplexed for a time, but finally went to the bed and said gravely: "Grandmother, don't you know that God made you up right? He did not make you up wrong!" This then is the glorious truth that mortals are learning in Christian Science: that mankind need only turn from the mist—the evidence of the material senses—to the great spiritual facts of being as stated in the first chapter of Genesis, to find the truth which maketh free. Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 171): "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free, not needing to consult almanacs for the probabilities either of his life or of the weather, not needing to study brainology to learn how much of a man he is."

THE ORIGIN OF EVIL

Here the question may be raised, "If you insist that the truth about man is that he is spiritual and not material, where does this material or Adam-sense of things come from?" When Christian Science states that material sense is only another name for the Adam-dream, it says all that there is to be said on the subject. One does not analyze a dream, one merely awakens out of it; and when one is thoroughly awake, he pursues his dream-phantom no further. The question as to the seeming origin of evil can be answered therefore only by spiritual awakening and growth in understandng. When one has a clear-cut proof of healing in Christian Science; when some picture of discord which has seemed so real and powerful has faded into nothingness before the blaze of Truth, then and not until then will this question be satisfactorily answered. Along this line an almost humorous passage of Scripture is to be found in the Book of Job. You remember that there was a day when the sons of God were supposed to present themselves before the Lord, and the record states that Satan came along among them. Then the Lord also says to Satan, "Whence comest thou?" Hear the illuminating response, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it"! Here evil betrays its emptiness and powerlessness. It has no law, no source, no reason for existing, no object." It is as Jesus said in his ringing denunciation, "A murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in [it]."

CALLING EVIL A LIE

Here then is the Christian Scientist's warrant for denominating evil a lie, a fraudulent sense, and never the product of a loving and all-wise Father. This does not mean, however, that the intelligent Christian Scientist airily waves evil to one side, and says, "Oh, there is no sin, so why worry about it?" He is taught to handle the serpent of sin by bringing it out from its hiding place, seeing that it confers no satisfaction, and then turning from it with loathing, if not with tears of repentance. In no one thing does Christian Science prove itself more divine than in its combined sternness and compassion in its treatment of sin. We read in the textbook, "Expose and denounce the claims of evil and disease in all their forms, but realize no reality in them" (p. 447). Ah, there is the task difficult to the average mortal, accustomed as he is to according power and reality to evil, and condemnation to the sinner rather than the sin. Yet nothing short of this can be termed true Christian healing of sin.

AN EXAMPLE OF JESUS' HEALING OF SIN

Take for example Jesus' healing of the woman taken in adultery. The self-righteous scribes and Pharisees endeavor to secure from the Master endorsement of their hard rule of "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth." But he stoops and writes on the ground, making no reply. Finally, in response to their insistent demands for an expression of his views, he says very simply, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." And again he leans forward and with his finger traces words in the sand. Tradition has it that Jesus wrote the secret sins of the accusers, and they one by one stole quietly away when their evil doings were uncovered. Is it not comforting to note, at this point, that the Master wrote these sins in sand instead of chiseling them in a rock? Then the Scripture tells us that he lifted up himself and saw none but the woman, and then delivered that message of compassion and healing that has rung down the centuries, "Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more." What did Jesus see when he "lifted up himself"? Certainly not a sinning, weak, imperfect daughter of Adam, but the sinless, spotless image of God which had just seemed hidden by the Adam-mist, and his recognition of the truth of being dispelled the false picture and set the captive free. Having discerned in the woman's thought true repentance and turning from sin, the Master unsaw the evil; in other words, he separated man from evil, and thus took away its seeming power.

SEPARATING EVIL FROM MAN

A few years ago there appeared in one of our periodicals an illustration that will bear repeating. A woman whose childhood had been spent in a country where wild beasts frequently came near her dwelling told of a curious plaything some children had. It was a large snake, and was quite harmless, the children finding great sport in picking it up and winding it about their bodies. It seems that the snake could not crush an object within its toils unless at the same time it could attach itself to another object such as a post or a tree. How like the argument of the one evil is this! The moment we allow the serpent of sin to attach itself to a brother or sister, at that moment does it seem to have power. If, on the other hand, we refuse to see it as personal, as attached to person, or having anything to do with man, we render it impotent, harmless, and ripe for destruction. What joyous, harmonious work in their homes, their offices, and their churches may Christian Scientists expect to see when they awaken to the privilege and necessity of detaching evil from their brother-man! While of course no Christian Scientist can give another what is called a treatment without the other's knowledge and consent, he can, nevertheless, live so close to God, and keep his thought so filled with the glorious truths of the first chapter of Genesis, that the moment he is tempted to believe that the serpent of sin or disease is attaching itself to a brother, he will speedily relegate such suggestion to the nothingness from whence it came. In the presence of such Christly thinking, evil flees, and harmony is manifested as surely today as in Christ Jesus' time.

BEARING WITNESS TO THE TRUTH

Let the right thinker be not dismayed because he seems to be many times hopelessly in the minority. The Scripture tells us that a thousand shall flee at the rebuke of one—a thousand Adam-concepts of sin, sickness, and discord shall be routed by one clear, consecrated declaration of the truth. Jesus summed up his ministry in this terse sentence, "To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth." He did not say that he had come to fight the great power of sin, nor the reality of matter, but had come to bear witness to the facts of being. And when he bore this faithful witness, the Adam-mist of sickness and error was dissipated. Here is a comforting message to the burdened Christian Science practitioner. Let him not be bowed down with the cares and woes of his patients, and the weight of terrifying and so-called incurable diseases. His is not the work of the material physician, fighting this germ and struggling with that untoward condition. He is called to a case only to bear faithful witness to the truth, to resist the temptation to believe that there is any other than the beautiful harmonious creation of the first chapter of Genesis, and to know that all that really is happening is the glorification of God, good. Being engaged, therefore, only in the work of witnessing, he is able to cast all burdens and responsibilities at the feet of the Father, and, as the hymn says, "bear a song away." Such a holy realization inevitably uncovers evil, brings it to the surface, and enables one to relegate it to the scrap-heap of oblivion.

A REMARKABLE HEALING OF SIN

Let me cite here a case of healing of sin, thoroughly authenticated, which shows how this understanding of Christian Science enables one practically to lift the burden of sin and condemnation from his brother-man, and set him free. A few years ago, when Christian Scientists began holding services in a certain large state prison, there was confined in that prison one of the most desperate and feared convicts in the state. We shall call him John Henry, as his own name might be remembered by many. He became so ungovernable in the prison and attempted so many escapes, that it became necessary to place him in solitary confinement where he remained a number of years. The two Christian Scientists who acted as readers at the prison services heard of this prisoner and asked permission of the captain of the guard to see him. This was freely granted, and the Scientists, accompanied by the captain, went into the dungeon. There sat John Henry, looking more like a savage beast than a human being. The Scientists looking past the Adam-appearance, and endeavoring to know the only man there was, was the expression of good, addressed him kindly and added, "You have a friend here in the captain." John Henry did not raise his eyes. "I have not a friend in the world!" he muttered bitterly. "Ah, but you have," replied one of the Scientists, "and I can prove it to you. The captain is your friend, we are your friends, because we want to help you." A friend! That magic word brought probably the first touch of love that starved and hardened heart had known for years, and tears came into John Henry's eyes. The Scientists, being good metaphysical gardeners, knew that the seed of Truth had been planted, so they departed, leaving some Christian Science literature for him to read.

Almost immediately the guards about the prison began to notice a wonderful change in John Henry's thought. The following Sunday he was allowed to come to the Christian Science service held in the prison. There he heard read from the Bible and Science and Health healing statements about God and man, with never a word of condemnation for the sinner, but only condemnation for the sin. He heard that glorious declaration of the Apostle John, read at the close of every Christian Science Sunday service, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God"! The Adam-mist began fading away, and the child of God began to appear. Within six months this desperate criminal had been transformed into one of the most trusted men in the prison.

I had the privilege sometime after of lecturing in this institution, and was talking to the men about the parable of the Prodigal Son. After describing the Prodigal's plight, when "he would feign have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat: and no man gave unto him," I said to my audience, "Men, where was that man?" A clear strong voice answered me, "In hell!" It was the voice of John Henry. He knew all about it for he had been there. But there was triumph and joy in John Henry's voice, for he had found through Christian Science his way out of hell. The prodigal had come back to his Father's home. About a year and a half after John Henry had first heard of Christian Science, the warden of the prison sent word to him that he was ready to recommend him for a parole. But John Henry would not accept it. The walls of the institution were not prison walls to him! His prison-house had been sin and ignorance, and Truth had brought him forth from this dungeon long since. So today he is still serving his sentence, and is in the eyes of men still a convict; but one of the freest, most joyous sons of the King I have ever met is this same John Henry! He has elected to stay where he is, as he feels he can be of more help to his brother-man in this prison than out of it. He now is able to do healing work for his fellow-inmates, and is showing many of them their way out of bondage, out of the belief that there is any real satisfaction in sin. After all, what more is there to sin Mrs. Eddy writes in "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 90), "The power of sin is the pleasure in sin. Take away this pleasure, and you remove all reality from its power."

THE CAUSE OF DISEASE

Let us now consider the application of the truth of being, as revealed in Christian Science, to a case of sickness. In the first place, the Scientist does not ask to see the patient's tongue, but to discern what is in his thought. He has learned in the textbook that "fear, ignorance, or sin" is the cause of all disease (Science and Health, p. 411), so he goes at once to the root of the difficulty. The material physician becomes greatly concerned over the presence of this germ or of that infection; but does he see the germs of fear, of despair, of heartache, or condemnation that are the actual cause of the discord? As for surgery, only the sword of Spirit, the Word of God, can truly remove the poison-cells of hate and fear from the human consciousness. Thus it is that the man healed in Christian Science is not only improved materially, but is inevitably lifted higher spiritually.

AN INSTANCE OF HEALING OF SICKNESS

The following case of healing came under my observation some time ago, and illustrates how the spiritual idea of being comes like an angel visitant to the sufferer, and awakens him to the glorious realization of his freedom as the child of God:

A woman had been battling for some days with a condition which physicians might have called intermittent fever. She seemed quite ill, but she and her husband were Christian Scientists and were bravely fighting it out along spiritual lines, and resorting to no material remedies. The fever would come and go, come and go, and just when they felt the ill was conquered, back it would seem to come with increased violence. Both husband and wife were clinging to the truth of being, and endeavoring to speak to the disease "as one having authority," but there was something lacking. They repeated words, but the realization of the truth of their statements was wanting, and discouragement threatened to overwhelm them. One day, after a rather encouraging morning, the husband came home to find the wife again prostrated, her cheeks aflame with the fever and crying as though her heart would break. "Oh," she said, "I don't believe I shall ever be healed!" The husband sat beside her for a few moments, and then a light broke in upon his thought. "I know what is needed in this family," he declared. "We have been saying words, only words! We have been making these great statements about God and man, and have not thanked God that they are true. What we need here is more of the medicine of gratitude!" "I do not see anything to be grateful for," said the wife, still weeping. "Then," said the husband, "suppose we begin counting the blessings which have come to us since we have known Christian Science." Proof after proof of God's care and protection was cited, but no sound came from the bed. "Now," continued the husband, "let us thank God for the healings we know others have had." A voice from the bed joined him in this, for it was easy to remember other people's healings. "And now we come to our greatest cause for gratitude," said the husband. "Let us thank God, as did Jesus at the tomb of Lazarus, that the Father has heard us. Let us thank Him that we are whole and free now, no matter what the material senses are reporting. Thank Him that the law of good is the only law governing us, and that this picture which has seemed so real is only a part of the Adam-dream. Let us thank Him that this error is really not going on. Thank Him that we are awake!" But this time the wife was working with him, and after possibly fifteen minutes he put his hand on the brow that had been so hot. It was moist. The eyes were bright. The fever had gone, never to return. Gratitude, therefore, may be said to be the sign that one truly has reached the realization of the truth which he declares.

THE HEALING OF "FINANCIAL SICKNESS"

Let us now consider the case of a man "financially sick," or who may be said to have "a sick business." Can this spiritual understanding of creation help him? Even so. Possibly every business man will agree that a higher, happier, and more hopeful view of things would work wonders in the business world. No realm is more susceptible to mental influences than the so-called business world. Superstition, fear, doubt, and panic find easy access thereto, and if not checked and nullified by the action of Truth, these may work much mischief with the individual, the community, or the nation. Should it be thought unreasonable that the Word of God, the reflection of infinite Mind, which in Jesus' time stilled storms and raised the dead, should be able in our day to quiet fear, restore confidence, bring about harmony in an organization, and promote and bring to success a righteous business venture? Christ Jesus once said, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." The reason for the failure of many a business man lies in the fact that instead of being lifted up from the earth, as the son of the King should be, he is wearing still the livery of Adam, and carrying about an atmosphere of gloom and fear and limitation that repels rather than attracts his brother-man.

"WHAT HAST THOU IN THE HOUSE?"

Have you ever read in the Bible the story of the poverty-stricken widow who, as creditors were about to take her sons to the bondmen, appealed to Elisha for help? You will recall that the prophet meets her appeal in quite an unexpected and unusual manner. He says, "What shall I do for thee? Tell me, what hast thou in the house?" She replies that she has nothing save a pot of oil. He then tells her to secure as many vessels as she can, go into her house, shut the door, and begin pouring out the oil. She is obedient, and in the great manifestation of abundance that follows, every vessel is filled. Here may be seen an instance of the marvelous light which the study of Christian Science throws upon the Scriptures. We learn in Christian Science that "house" may be likened to one's consciousness, while "oil" typifies "consecration; charity; gentleness; prayer; heavenly inspiration" (Science and Health, p. 592). Therefore when we are confronted with the argument of lack, hard times, fear, loss, and so on, and we turn to Christian Science for relief, the first message is, Look within! What have we in our mental homes The first temptation is to say bitterly, "Nothing!" Ah, but have we not a little oil that we can begin pouring? Cannot we pour forth a little more charity to our business associates, a little more gentleness in the home, a little more prayer and consecration to the heavenly Father? To our amazement we find that the difficulty was not from without at all; it was within. Some one has aptly said, "The hole through which you give is the hole through which you get." If we have provided no outlet for the streams of love and gratitude, how then can one expect a great inflow of good? The Scripture gives us a definite law on this subject. It says, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, . . . and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

THE FATHER'S BUSINESS

One often hears a business man who is a Christian Scientist sigh to get away from material business, as he calls it, and give all his time to holier work. It is well to remind each other that whatever enterprise is meeting one of the world's legitimate needs may truly be denominated "the Father's business," be such work the making of shoes, or the healing of the sick. Was there ever a time when the Science of Christianity was more needed in the marts of trade than today? Have men and women practicing Christian Science in business ever been more necessary? Were there ever such opportunities for healing hate and greed, for stilling fear, for promoting healthy, loving relations between employer and employee, as exist today? What a joyous business is the Father's business! Divine Mind is the manager, the counselor, the unfailing source of supply. Man is not engaged in making a living. His living is already made, for God is his Life, ever-present, full, and free. Just as a ray of light may be said to be in the business of expressing the sun, so man' purpose is the eternal glorifying and expressing of good. This cannot mean a settling into a supine inactivity, but a rousing to the greatest activity one has ever known—an activity devoid of fear, and joyous in service. This may involve a frequent consultation with the Head of the firm, a listening for His voice, and a clinging to His hand; and how burdens roll from the shoulders of the business man who thus keeps in close touch with the great Employer! A little Australian lad, out for a walk with his mother, was attacked by a rather savage dog. In fact the dog's jaws closed about the lad's leg. Instead of screaming the little fellow said calmly, addressing the animal, "What do you think you are doing?" Instantly the dog released the leg and slunk away. The child raised a beaming face to his mother. "Mummie," he said, "isn't it great not to be afraid of dogs!" And the man or woman in business, clinging to the hand of Love divine, and leaning on the arm of omnipotence, can say again and again, "Dear Father, isn't it great not to be afraid any more!" When men and nations learn the lesson of seeking and relying on the one Mind, when employers learn it, when the humblest employee learns it, may we not expect to see the solving of the problems of the individual, the state, yes, the world?

RIGHT THINKING THE SOLUTION

Thinking men of every shade of creed and politics agree that in a quickening of the world's religious sense lies the salvation of the perplexed and war-weary human family. And there they stop. And there Christian Science begins, for it alone offers that practical salvation which begins with the individual's thinking, and in renovating and spiritualizing this is destined to save both men and nations. Right thinking, therefore, is the remedy; and when you have a right-thinking individual or a right-thinking nation, you find health and harmony and peace.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE PRACTITIONER

"But," may say some one at this point, "I know of a case that Christian Science did not save. How do you account for that?" The textbook gives the answer very simply and directly. It says: "If you fail to succeed in any case, it is because you have not demonstrated the life of Christ, Truth, more in your own life,—because you have not obeyed the rule and proved the Principle of divine Science" (p. 149). Christian Scientists admit with regret, but not discouragement, their failure to measure up to the Christ-ideal in all cases. However, they are overwhelmingly grateful for the progress already made, and ask mankind to be patient while they strive for that Mind "which was also in Christ Jesus." Possibly this is a good reason why those under Christian Science treatment are called "patients"; sufferers are asked to be patient while their practitioners strive for that reflection of infinite Love which will melt away the mist of mortal belief, and reveal the harmonious man of God's creating.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE PATIENT

"Then the patient has no responsibility, no particular work to do?" may ask some inquirer. Indeed he has! Suppose a ship has gone on the rocks several hundred feet from shore, and a survivor clings to a masthead of the submerged vessel, calling for help. Then suppose a rope is thrown to him by one on the land eager to rescue him. The man on the wreck apparently takes hold of the rope, but pull as he may the friend on shore cannot budge him. Soon he discovers that while the man has one hand on the rope with the other he is clutching the mast. The rescuer calls out, "Let go that wreck! Put both hands on the rope, and I can pull you in!" Rather reluctantly the other obeys. But soon again there is trouble. The rope slips from his hands, and with difficulty he regains it. This time it appears that he is trying to carry ashore some cherished possession—a bundle of valuable garments—and in his eagerness to cling to it he loses the rope. "Drop everything and hold to the rope if you would be saved!" shouts the rescuer. Again, reluctantly he obeys, and soon is brought safely to land. To his great joy he finds in the home of his rescuer better garments than those he was compelled to give up. Here unquestionably is food for thought. Let those under Christian Science treatment ask themselves: Am I clinging to the wreck? Are both hands on the rope of spiritual understanding, or have I one hand on the belief that this or that medicine or operation may save me? Have I cast from me the entangling mental garments of self-pity, self-love, and self-will? Am I trying to take with me into the kingdom of heaven some cherished opinions, some preconceived notions of which I have been rather proud, or some material indulgence? Be not afraid to rid yourselves of these unlovely hindrances to progress, for divine Love has more beautiful mental garments awaiting you than you dream of. If the patient prays for humility, receptivity, and teachableness, and the practitioner strives for the Mind of Christ, then may they say in the language of Paul, "Who can be against us?"

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST NOT DISMAYED

Picture, if you will, a life-saver heroically battling with the waves in the effort to pull ashore a shipwrecked man or woman. Then imagine, if you can, others standing on the shore, and instead of encouraging the rescuer and assisting in the grand work of rescue, jeering and taunting the rescuer, criticizing his methods and predicting disaster. A rather unthinkable picture, is it not? And yet this very thing happens in thousands of instances daily when some earnest Christian Scientist attempts the work of rescue for a shipwrecked brother or sister. Material medicine scoffs, old theology hurls its anathema, the worldly-minded sneer and shrug their shoulders; and, in spite of all this, the sick and sinning and heartbroken are being rescued in ever-increasing numbers. What glorious quick healing work may we expect to see with increased consecration on the part of practitioner and patient, a lessened hatred and intolerance with the onlooking brethren not of our fold. So the Christian Science life-saver refuses to be dismayed or discouraged. He is grateful that he is doing as well as he is, and prays for understanding and grace to do better work in the future. Dare he even admit that those who have passed from our sight, battling to the last moment as good Christian warriors, have gone down in defeat? Never! Mrs. Eddy says of such soldiers, that they have gained "a rich blessing of disbelief in death, and a higher realization of heaven" (Miscellany, p. 297). So fear not, and despair not, whether you are the rescuer or the one being rescued!

"Oft there comes a gentle whisper
o'er me stealing,
When my trials or my burdens
seem too great,
Like the sweet-voiced bells of evening, softly pealing,
It is saying to my spirit, 'Only wait!'

"When I cannot understand my Father's leading,
And it seems to be but hard and
cruel fate;
Still I hear that gentle whisper,
ever pleading:
'God is faithful, God is working; only wait!"

"When the promise seems to linger, long delaying,
And I tremble lest perhaps it comes too late—
Then I hear the gentle whisper ever saying:

TODAY—"Dankfest" Lauds U. S. Liberality. German Kiddies Grateful for Aid.

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
For International News Service

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Five thousand happy children cheered America and the Quaker relief workers at the "Dankfest" held here to express appreciation for the free food that had kept them well and strong during the years of privation since the war. They came from the Prenzlauer district of the welfare ogranization and spoke also for the 500,000 children in Germany who were benefiting by the food kitchens.

The kiddies, boys and girls, and the majority around ten years of age, danced and clapped their hands when announcement was made that the Quakers were coming back to them from America. This relief work was organized and developed by the Quakers shortly after the war because of the critical condition of hundreds of thousands of German children as a result of the lean years so important in their growth. The The Quakers, backed by American money collected through their agency, perfected their organization so well that last year they were able to turn it over to the German relief branch, operating under government branches, including the Ministries of Food, Labor, Interior and Health. The Quakers were then able to turn their attentions to Russia. But with the new economic crisis brought on by the Ruhr occupation the Germans have not been able to meet the demand. They were most anxious about the future, because they have funds to carry on only until the end of October. But the Quakers have just assured them that they will again come to their aid.

It is likely that the Quakers will leave the operation of the relief in the hands of the German organization. A new German committee will be appointed to administer under a board of trustees nominated by the Quakers. It is feared here that with the coming of winter the needs will greatly increase, and German officials express the deepest gratification over the timely offer of further help by the Quakers. Dr. Rau, executive secretary of the German committee, told the Inernaional News Service correspondent that American aid has already saved thousands of lives and will save thousands more, and he added that whatever the political differences might be between the two countries Germany could never forget this Christian help for those not responsible for politics.

The "Dankfest" was a joyous affair. Five thousand little children are more than the number suggests, especially when they are well fed and on holiday benavior. There was some charming singing and group dancing, but when the city dignitaries attempted to get serious about the relief movement and the future citizenry of Germany their speeches were drowned by noises that only restless children can make. Nobody heard the speeches, and they didn't seem very important, for a sample "kitchen dinner" was on the programme, and cries from the gallery indicated that this is very popular.

The Thanksgiving was attended by a group of American tourists associated with or interested in the work of the Quakers. Ambassador Houghton was represented by Warren D. Robins, counselor of the Embassy, who received a little lad, representing the children, and assured him that America knew no national boundaries when little children were suffering.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE ROLLING PUMPKIN

Once upon a time Uncle Wiggily said to Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper:

"I am going to hop along, Janie, and look for an adventure!"

"Seems to me you do that every day!" laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You hardly ever stay at home any more to help me."

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Didn't I stay home the other day and bring you a new dishpan?"

"Oh, so you did," admitted Nurse Jane. "Very well, hop along and have your adventure. And when you come home I wish you'd bring me a turnip so I can make an orange shortcake."

"I'll do that for you," promised Uncle Wiggily. So away the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped, over the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure.

First he came to a big hollow stump, almost like the one he lived in, except that it had no doors or windows.

"I wonder who lives in here?" thought the bunny. "I'll take a look, but I hope it isn't the Skillery Scallery Alligator or the Bad Bob Cat."

So the bunny gentleman looked down into the hollow stump, and, all of a sudden, there was a piff and a puff and a lot of dust blew in the bunny's eyes.

"Bless my pink nose!" cried the bunny gentleman, jumping back. "That must be the Fuzzy Fox trying to nibble my ears."

But it wasn't—it was only the wind puffing some dried wood dust from the old stump into the rabbit gentleman's face. The wind didn't intend to do it, but just couldn't help it.

"That was adventure number one," said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh as he hopped on. Then he came to a big pile of dried leaves in the forest. "Oh, I wonder if any one lives under those leaves?" said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I'll take a look, but I hope it isn't the bad Bushy Bear."

The rabbit gentleman hopped close to the pile of leaves and was looking at them and starting to poke them apart with a stick, when, all of a sudden, the pile of leaves seemed to blow up as if some one had lighted a firecracker under them.

"Oh, trolley cars!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and he jumped back so fast that he tripped over a stone and fell down ker-bunko. And out from beneath the pile of leaves lumbered Neddie Stubtail, the boy bear.

"Why, Neddie, how you frightened me!" gasped the bunny. "What were you doing there?"

"I'm keeping away from my sister Beckie," answered Neddie. "We are playing hide-and-go-seek and this was my bunk."

"Oh, I'm so sorry I spoiled your game," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Never mind," laughed Neddie. "I'll cover myself with leaves again and hide away from Beckie," which he did.

"That was adventure number two," said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped on a little farther. Then he came to the top of a hill and was just going to sit down to rest when, all of a sudden, he saw a yellow pumpkin on top of the hill."

"Ah," murmured the bunny gentleman to himself, "I'll take this pumpkin home to Nurse Jane. It will make as good a chocolate cake as a turnip would make an orange pie. I'll take the pumpkin."

But as Uncle Wiggily hopped near the big, yellow vegetable all of a sudden the pumpkin began rolling toward him, real savage like, as if it wanted to nibble the bunny's ears.

"Oh, my, what's this? A pumpkin that rolls all by itself!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I had better let it alone."

He hopped back, but the pumpkin still rolled toward him. Uncle Wiggily hopped down the hill, but the pumpkin also rolled down, right after the bunny gentleman.

"Oh, jitney busses!" cried the bunny. "What does this mean? The rolling pumpkin is chasing me," and really it was. Down the hill hopped the bunny. Down the hill rolled the pumpkin. Then came a level place and Uncle Wiggily said:

"Well, maybe it was just an accident. Almost anything will roll down hill if it's round, but if it rolls after me on the level I'll know something is wrong." And, surely enough, the pumpkin kept right on, rolling after the bunny gentleman and chasing him.

It chased him right up to the door of his hollow stump bungalow, and Uncle Wiggily said:

"Nurse Jane! Nurse Jane! Come out quickly and see the rolling pumpkin that's after me!"

And when the muskrat lady came out of the hollow stump bungalow, all of a sudden a piece fell out of the side of the pumpkin, and from within scrambled Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" chattered the squirrel boys. "We didn't mean to scare you. But mother sent us for a pumpkin. It was too big for us to carry, so we gnawed a piece off, got inside and rolled over and over in the pumpkin. Did we scare you?"

Down the hill hopped the bunny.

"Did you?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "You almost made my pink nose stop twinkling, and I forgot all about Nurse Jane's turnip."

"That can have some of our pumpkin," said Billie. So the muskrat lady made a pudding from part of the rolling pumpkin and the squirrel boys took the remainder home to their mother.

"I had three adventures!" laughed the bunny gentleman. And if the hot water doesn't catch cold when it splashes into the bathtub to lather the soap, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's three shots.

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE

P. T. Barnum said it.
There is one born every minute
And two to take him.
Also the dear public loves
To have the bird put on it.
A dealer in our neighborhood
Bought in large quantities
A certain article for men.
He marked it $15 and put it
In a prominent window place,
But the article did not sell.
Finally he pulled the old gag,
Just to see if it was too feeble
To be worked once more.
He got a large piece of cardboard
And he marked $23.50" on it.
Then crossed this out with red ink
And below this he marked:
"Now reduced to $17.50."
And he sold every one he had
And had to order a lot more.
And they would not sell at $15.
The old stuff still goes great.

They are about to open King Tutankhamen's tomb again, and we can only venture the hope that they will not dig up any more Egyptian styles.

GRANDPA LIKED THIS ONE

Dear Boy—A man came into our office early this morning and wanted to know if we knew how to make a fish net. We told him we were not interested in fish. He persisted in telling us that all we would have to do to make a good net was to gather a lot of holes and tie them together. Whereupon we immediately threw him out of the place. Did we do right."—C. M. T.

TWO PERIODS
By Nathan Cantor

For many years ago
A man looked up the sky;
He watched with wondering eyes
The little birdies fly.

A bird flew in the air,
Up higher and higher.
The man can't accomplish
His wish—his desire.

Many years passed away
The world forgot his name;
Now his grandson was looking—
At the sky just the same.

But not a bird's flying.
The man goes up so high;
No bird can show the wonder
As the man-king of the sky!

Bananas have gone up 3 cents a dozen wholesale, but so long as nobody has any what difference does it make?

BEGINNING OUR WINTER SYMPOSIUM

Dear Boy—I hereby respectfully submit the following knotty problems for discussion by the readers:

1. Why don't they put more raisins in the bread pudding? Everybody picks the raisins out and leaves the rest.

2. Why does the interim between pay days seem so long, while rent days flash by one another so rapidly as to leave you a headache?

3. Yesterday I went to an amusement park and the bathhouses had signs hung out offering accommodations for 25 per. Where were those birds last summer?

When you have answered these I shall submit other nutcrackers.

Europe should give us credit for staying out of affairs, for, really it is about the hardest thing we have ever done.

POEMS That LIVE

GRAVES OF INFANTS

Infants' gravemounds are steps of angels, where
Earth's brightest gems of innocence repose.
God is their parent, so they need no tear;
He takes them to his bosom
from earth's woes—
A bud their lifetime and a flower their close.
Their spirits are the Iris of the skies,
Needing no prayer; a sunset's happy close.
Gone are the soft rays of their soft blue eyes;
Flow'rs weep in dew-drops o'er them, and the gale gently sighs.

Their lives were nothing but a sunny shower,
Melting on flowers as tears
melt from the eye.
Each death was toll'd on flowers
as summer gales went by;
They bowed, and trembled, yet
they heaved no sigh;
And the sun smiled to show the end was well.
Infants have naught to weep
for ere they die,
All prayers are needless, beads
they need not tell;
White flowers their mourners are,
Nature their passing bell.
—John Clare.

Who's Who in the Day's News

"AIRSHIPS WILL REPLACE OCEAN LINERS," SAYS ZR-1 EXPERT

The present twenty-two-day trip by ocean liner from San Francisco to Wellington, New Zealand, or, in the other direction, from New York via Suez to Aden, Arabia, will sooner or later be cut to five days by dirigible, according to Captain Anton Heinen, test pilot and technical consultant of the United States navy airship ZR-1.

CAPT. A. HEINETT

"The day of safe, comfortable and swift voyaging in lighter-than-air liners has arrived in America," concurs Commander R. D. Weyerbacher, builder of the great Zeppelin.

"We can build airships," Captain Heinen went on, "with a passenger-carrying capacity of 150, which can make a trip in five days that would take a modern ocean liner twenty-two days to accomplish. The trip, moreover, can be made with cheaper fuel and oil rates and less overhead, a smaller crew and with equal safety."

He pronounced the commercial possibilities of the lighter-than-air gasbag a coming sensation which would eclipse the rise of the automobile. Strangely, though governments like that at Washington were awake to the possibilities, the people of the various nations were not, the expert said. Its future, however, was, in his opinion, none the less assured.

Captain Heinen added that this future supremacy of the Zeppelin type airship would be at the expense, not only of the palatial ocean liner as it is known today, but of the fleet airplane as well.

Planes to Be Outdone

"The airplane will be a mere appendix to the commercial airship," the captain said, "and the ocean liner not much more. The outlook is limitless."

Stressing the commercial value further, Captain Heinen pursued:

"That its commercial value is superior to the airplane was readily proven in competitive lines of airplanes on the one hand and airships on the other run during the war between Berlin and Friedrichshafen in Germany, a distance of 300 miles.

"The airplanes were doing a fairly successful business when the airship appeared. Within three weeks after introduction of the latter the airplane company abandoned its service as unprofitable. At the same time the airship company with ridiculously cheaper rates made great profits.

"Singularly enough, when the airplanes were absorbed by the airship company and later restored to service as supplements of the larger ships they at once became profitable again."

Captain Heinen said he held no fonder theory than that involving the San Francisco-Wellington and New York-Aden air routes, and no phase of that matter of safety. In support of this view he submitted his own experiences while employed as chief test pilot and construction engineer for the Zeppelin airship works in Germany since 1911 and throughout the World war.

"Concerning the safety aspect of airship transportation," he said, "the hazard at no time exceeds that of an ocean liner. Since 1911 I have been piloting airships for short and long journeys, and I have taken up more than 100,000 passengers in this time. Not one of them ever suffered a scratch or other injury during these trips."

A tailor had called to collect his bill frequently, says the Detroit Free Press, but without success. Finally in desperation he said vehemently:

"Mr. Jones, I must insist that you make some definite arrangement with me."

"Why, surely," replied Mr. Jones, agreeably. "Let's see. Well, suppose you call every Thursday morning."

It isn't the weather, Old Timer,
It isn't the frost or the dew;
It's the state of the air
In your stuffy, old lair
That gives you a dose of the "flu."

"It's a poor rule that won't work both ways," said the teacher as she pulled little Johnnie across her knee.

Probably at the next meeting of the board of trustees the question of a driver for the new Glendale fire truck will be taken up. In the meantime if a fire should break out, it is understood that Trustee H. P. Coker will drive the new fire truck and operate it to the best of his knowledge.

Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, of 121 South Brand, entertained the Tropico Bridge club this afternoon.

Prize winners last week at the Glendale Bowling parlors were: Mrs. J. E. Anderson, a fine decorated sofa pillow; Howard McGillis, a trio of Dutch steins.

The high school budget this year is $530.05. Last year it was $405, but exceeded that amount by $40.

Helen was at her first party, according to Everybody's. When refreshments were served she refused a second helping of ice cream with a polite "No, thanks," although she looked wistful.

"Do have some more, dear," the hostess urged.

"Mother told me to say 'No, thank you,'" the little girl explained naively, "but I don't believe she knew how small the dishes were going to be."

Serious Bladder Trouble

"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, Tarkio, Montana. "The doctors said I had inflammation of the bladder and an operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills as it will save many from suffering and perhaps, as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief.

Purify Bank System Is Coolidge's Advice

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—President Coolidge yesterday asked the investment bankers of the country to weed out from the banking system of the nation all those who are not maintaining a high standard of ability and honesty.

"It is that opportunity especially I want to leave with you, the opportunity to render this public service—a public service to yourselves and to the public in that it may protect them against wrong-doing at all places and at all times," the president declared in a short speech to the bankers from the south portico of the White House.

Paul B. Talmadge to Get Hearing Today

Paul B. Talmadge, alias R. K. Wells, was arraigned before Judge Harry W. Chase in the police court yesterday afternoon and was remanded for preliminary hearing this afternoon at 1 o'clock. His bail was placed at $300 which he did not furnish.

Meanwhile the list of his alleged victims continues to grow. Many housewives are appearing at police headquarters with gorgeous colored receipts for their dollar, which they gave as a deposit on china which was to be delivered, but which failed to materialize, it is charged.

Bigamist Sentenced for 3 to 15 Years

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 30.—Harry Roshon, alleged to have been married to seven women during the past few years, was sentenced to from three to fifteen years in the penitentiary yesterday when he pleaded guilty to the theft of $7,000 worth of Liberty bonds from Mrs. Alan Schneider, who is said to have been his fifth wife. Roshon, in entering his plea, stated he would attempt to pay back all the money he got from various women, when released from prison. He was arrested in Los Angeles recently.

Lecture Given Here on Christian Science

'Though it tarry, it is coming; only wait!'

"Oh, how little soon will seem our hardest sorrow,
And how trifling is our present brief estate!
Could we see it in the light of Love's tomorrow,
Oh, how easy it would be for us to wait!"

This is not a plea to postpone our deliverance to a future heaven, but to strengthen faith to lay hold on spiritual blessings here and now, and courageously and unfalteringly to keep on demanding man's birthright of dominion until it is made manifest. Do Christian scientists demand the joy and good that are their God-given heritage? Many seem to think that joy is like a capricious butterfly which may or may not flutter in upon them; whereas joyousness is part and parcel of man's real nature, and mortals must learn to claim it as vigorously as they demand freedom from pain and sin. The joyless Christian Scientist still wanders in the midst and in the maze of the Adam-dream.

CONCLUSION

The Psalmist sings, "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." And unnumbered thousands of earth's dreamers, redeemed from the long night of materialism, are thanking God for His unspeakable gift, the Science of Christianity, and are hearing in the bright morning hours of spiritual revelation Love's joyous message to man:

"O man greatly beloved, fear not:
Peace be unto thee,
Be strong, yea, be strong."

Where honesty becomes flexible, dishonesty establishes itself.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Glendale People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;
But if you find 'tis from the kidneys;
That serious kidney troubles may follow;
That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end,
You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the honest statement of a resident of this locality.

Mrs. Sarah Smith, 1751 E. 37th St., Los Angeles, Cal., says: "Steady, hard work around my home ran me down and my kidneys began to trouble me. These organs acted too often and I worried more than a little. I had sick headaches and when dizziness was at its worst I found it necessary to sit down. I realized the trouble lay in my kidneys because of the black specks that passed before my eyes. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and by the time I had taken one box I was cured of the attack."

TUJUNGA

WOMEN PIONEERS RECALL OLD DAYS

Miss Zoe Gilbert Guest of Honor at Supper Party at Shaner Home

Miss Zoe Gilbert, first woman to locate permanently in Tujunga, was the guest of honor at a pioneer supper party given by Mrs. Elizabeth Shaner at her home at 356 North Sunset boulevard. Mrs. Shaner was assisted by Mrs. M. M. Mendenhall.

Places were laid for twenty-two guests, all of them being pioneers of the valley, having been residents of Tujunga for not less than eight years.

The guests spent the evening reminiscing of the days when Tujunga was called Los Terrenitos, or Little Lands, the name under which the townsite was colonized. This was later changed when the post office was established.

Old Time Costumes

Costumes for the evening were of the style worn ten years ago when the wearers met at Bolton hall, now Lgion hall, as members of the first social club in Tujunga. Miss Osgood and Jean Zachau won prizes for their costumes.

Miss Gilbert acted as toastmaster and the guests responded with short talks. Mrs. J. S. McGroarty related some of her experiences while on a recent trip with Mr. McGroarty to the Santa Ysabel valley to an Indian celebration.

The guests: Miss Zoe Gilbert, Mrs. John S. McGroarty, Miss Myra Osgood, Miss Jean Zachau, Miss Maud Morgan, Miss Marie Chatfield; Mesdames May Dean, Cora Linnaberry, Flora Morgan, Bertha Morgan, E. Darlington, M. Fairfield, E. Shumway, Les Lang, C. E. Buck, Julius Eckert and Harry Zachau.

Gift For Pastor

Dr. J. U. Stotts, pastor of the Tujunga Community church, was recently given a reception by the members of the various church organizations. A purse of $65 was given Dr. Stotts, as a token of the esteem in which he is held, Rev. Farr making the presentation speech.

W. D. Wright, speaking for the Men's Brotherhood, praised Dr. Stotts for his efforts in behalf of the building fund. The Ladies' Aid Society was represented by Mrs. Nelson Jones. Joyce Farr spoke for the Christian Endeavor. Mrs. Sweet sang two solos and Harriett Farr played a piano solo.

Eilene Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sweet, celebrated her tenth birthday anniversary with a picnic party at Monte Vista park, Sunland, for a number of her little friends. Games were played on the playground under the oak trees in the park and refreshments served. Miss Eilene received many birthday gifts.

Honor Ancient Bell

Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty attended the 200th anniversary of the casting, in Spain, of one of the old bells at Santa Ysabel Mission held at the mission.

Indians and their friends, estimated at nearly 3000, were present from the Santa Ysabel valley and surrounding mountains.

Mr. McGroarty addressed the gathering and urged a square deal for all Indians. He also made an appeal for funds to build a chapel and the responses totaled $2000 in pledges.

Mrs. L. May Dean was the dinner guest recently of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Williams, of Glendale. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Snow, of Cushing, Oklahoma, were also present. They had not met Mrs. Dean for twenty-five years.

Mrs. Dean received a visit from Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper, of Puente, also old-time friends of Ventura several years ago.

Hallowe'en Party

Mr. and Mrs. Levert Goddard, of 318 North San Ysidro street gave a Hallowe'en party for a number of Los Angeles and Tujunga friends Saturday night.

Mrs. F. F. Ash has returned to her Tujunga home after a short visit at Highland Park.

Members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Tujunga Community church gave a Hallowe'en party at Legion hall Saturday evening.

Millet Smith, formerly proprietor of the Tujunga Electric Shop, has returned from Big Creek where he has been employed by the Southern California Edison Company for several months.

Seventh grade pupils of the Tujunga school went on a hike and picnic in Haines Canyon, chaperoned by their teacher, Miss Dodds, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Scoville were recent dinner guests of Mrs. Angelo on Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Breen has returned to her home in the Spates tract after spending the summer in the east.

Returns From East

F. Spiegel has returned from a trip to the northern coast and eastern cities visiting friends and relatives. He went to Cleveland, Ohio, his birthplace, and later visited Brookville, Salem, Mass.; Hillside, Michigan; Denver, Colorado; Loveland, Burleigh, Idaho; Cosmopolis, Gray's Harbor, Washington and Portland, Oregon.

Spencer Kirschman left last Monday for San Diego to begin a two months' period of training, having enlisted in the U. S. Navy.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Taylor, of 350 Palm avenue, a ten and one-half pound boy on Wednesday, October 24, 1923.

Lawrence M. Wade, 32, for several months a resident of Tujunga at 357 Beulah court, died Friday, October 19, 1923, after a protracted illness.

Mr. Wade was born in Trinidad, Colorado, coming to Tujunga early in the present year. His mother accompanied him and was in constant attendance at his bedside.

The body was taken to the Los Angeles parlors of the Bramble Funeral Home where plans were made to take it to the old home for burial. He leaves his mother, a cousin in Los Angeles and brothers in Colorado.

Violates Quarantine Law; Pays $250 Fine

The gravity of violating the city ordinance regarding quarantine was emphasized by Judge Harry W. Chase in police court yesterday afternoon when he sentenced Vernon Webb, 518 East Palmer avenue, to a fine of $250 and three months in jail for this offense.

According to the charge, the city health department, under Dr. G. Kaemmerling, placed Webb's house in quarantine for diphtheria on October 20 and posted signs to that effect. Later that same day Webb removed the quarantine signs, it was stated.

In passing sentence Judge Case brought out that Webb was endangering the whole community with an epidemic, and felt that the offense called for a stiff sentence. Later the judge remitted the three months in jail.

Comparison of Moses and Christ in Sermon

Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist odist Episcopal church, took for his text yesterday morning, Hebrews 3:3, "This man was counted of more glory than Moses."

"In that primitive day of the church," he declared, "that was a hazardous thing to say even to a group of Hebrew Christians. They had been so long accustomed to regarding Moses as supreme in the field of law and leadership that any comparisons were apt to be regarded as odious.

"There can be no comparisons where there are no parallels of similarity. Parallels there were in the lives of Jesus and Moses. Both were of comparative obscurity, both were in Egypt, both rejected of their own; but to classify Moses as a type of Christ is to bemean the office of our Lord, who was a Son of the Father, while Moses was but a 'servant in the house.'

"But what Moses, the servant in the house, could not do, and what our fathers could not do, Jesus the Lord can do—so lay his spirit upon us that we, too, become sons of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ."

'Wizard' Intimidated by Threat, Is Charge

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 30.—Charges that William J. Simmons was induced to prevent presentation of his name for re-election as imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan on warning that his nomination would cause "bloodshed" were read in the Fulton superior court here yesterday.

The charges were made in a deposition read by Attorney W. S. Coburn, counsel for the plaintiffs, as one of the first moves in the David M. Rittenhouse suit for receivership of the Klan on charges of mismanagement of funds.

In the deposition, Simmons alleged that Dr. H. W. Evans, present imperial wizard, was elected to leadership by "conspiracy." He was informed just before the election, according to the document, that his nomination would bring an attack on his character from certain parties and that this attack would lead to a shooting affray by Simmons' supporters.

The Super Service Combination

In it are incorporated a Peerless high compression locked ring to give the utmost, in power and to effectively seal the upper section of the motor. The OYL STOP is used as a means of control for preventing oil pumping. The third ring is simply a very high quality snap or step-cut ring such as our regular step cuts. Give your motor a new lease of life. You will be surprised at the results.
